Troops Seek Reds Missing in Change From Koje Camp

Trouble Expected in Move of 2,700 Officers, 650 Men From No. 65 on Friday

Koje Island, Korea, June 12 (AP)—U. S. troops hunted today for missing comrades of 399 frightened anti-Communist prisoners of war who broke away from 4,800 marching Reds.

The breakway came during an otherwise orderly evacuation of the fourth trouble-ridden POW enclosure at this United Nations prison camp.

The anti-Red POWs said the missing prisoners had been hailed before Communist Kangaroo courts before today's transfer. They didn't report the number.

Death at the hands of their die-hard leaders was the fate of 16 POWs missing from an enclosure emptied Wednesday.

The camp commander, Brig. Gen. Hay Don L. Boatner, is expected to order evacuation of a fifth compound, No. 65, tomorrow. Some of the 2,700 ugly-tempered North Korean officers and 650 noncoms there are reported fashioning knives and spears.

Meets With Leaders

Boatner met today with their leaders, some of whom were shown the smouldering wreckage of compound 76, the first to be emptied. Thirty-nine prisoners died and at least 150 were injured there in a Tuesday battle with U. S. paratroopers. The 39th death was reported today. Many of the 39 were speared to death by fellow Reds.

Compound 66 is guarded by one company of the King's Shropshire Light Infantry of Britain, and one company of the Royal Canadian Regiment. However, indications were that the U. S. 38th Regiment would supervise the vacuation.

16 Bodies Dug Up

The bodies of 16 savagely killed prisoners were dug up in the third emptied compound, No. 77. But so far soldiers found no bodies in the fourth, No. 95. Unlike 77, there were no homemade weapons or escape tunnels.

Transfer of POWs from No. 95 brought operation breakup to the 30 per cent mark. Boatner intends to wrest control of the 80,000 internees from their Red leaders by moving them to new, smaller compounds and splitting them into groups of about 500.

Some 24,400 have been moved. Thirteen compounds remain to be emptied and there is a chance of violence in at least two of them.

U. S., Dollar Line Settle 5-Year Fight

Controlling Stock to Be Offered at Public Sale to Private Industry

Washington, June 12 (AP)—The government and the R. Stanley Dollar interests today settled their five-year court fight over control of the big Dollar Steamship Line.

Terms of the settlement provide:

1. The controlling stock interest in the line claimed by both will be put up at public sale at any price above $14,000,000 cash.

2. The winner of sealed bids will get the 92 per cent block of stock and the government and the dollar interest will divide the proceeds.

3. If the public sale fails to bring a bid of $14,000,000 or more, the stock will be divided equally between the government and the Dollar interest.

Don't Want Business

In any event, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said, the government intends to get out of the line and return it to private operation.

During court proceedings, the 92 per cent block of stock was estimated to be worth 69 million dollars but Sawyer said today the net value of the line was about 32 million at the end of 1951.

The stock was handed to the old Maritime Commission in 1938 when the government loaned the shipping line 4½ million dollars for repair of ships and for working capital, then subsidized its operation for a five-year period.

After the loan had been repaid out of company earnings, Dollar demanded return of the stock, contending it had merely been pledged to secure the loan.

The government refused, insisting that the stock had been surrendered to it outright, not just posted for security.

State Prison Man Stabs Child; Is Wounded by Police

Carmel, June 12 (AP)—An escaped convict from Green Haven State Prison, Dutchess county, making a desperate effort to seize a getaway car, stabbed a 9-year-old girl hostage to death yesterday as police closed in on him.

Hit by three police bullets, the convict surrendered and was taken to a hospital.

His little victim, stabbed with a butcher knife as her mother looked on helpless, died an hour later.

The slayer, Donald Snyder, 25, of Canastota, gave warning of his desperation and cried:

"If you come near me, I'll stab the child."

Alex Williams, 45, school bus driver and a special policeman, tried to persuade Snyder to release the child, Betty Lou Arnold. As he talked, he sidled up closer and fired, hitting Snyder. The ex-con then plunged the knife into the little girl's abdomen.

Gives Up Fight

Williams fired two more shots, and Snyder gave up the fight.

Williams was the driver of a school bus that brought Betty Lou home late yesterday.

The little girl, daughter of a prosperous hardware merchant, was crossing the lawn to join her young sister and another child when Snyder emerged from behind a bush.

He walked up to the house and told Mrs. Snyder:

"I'm an escaped convict. The cops are after me. I'm not fooling I want you to let me in here or I'll take your children."

The mother screamed to the children: "run, run." Two of them ran, but Snyder seized Betty Lou. Williams, seeing Snyder grab the child, drove away to get his gun.

Grabs Knife in Kitchen

As Mrs. Arnold ran toward a phone, Snyder kicked open the house door, dragged Betty Lou into the kitchen and grabbed the butcher knife.

He told the woman: "I want you to drive me to New York"—more than 50 miles away.

As Snyder held the knife close to the child, her mother led them to the cellar garage and they got into the family car.

While Mrs. Arnold stalled for time, Williams arrived with his gun. He and State Trooper Raymond Scarrachio, summoned by neighbors sought to rescue the child.

Snyder, who was serving a 2½-5 year term in Green Haven prison for auto theft, escaped Tuesday.

Putnam County District Attorney Fred A. Dickinson said a murder charge against Snyder would be presented to a grand jury tomorrow.

Dies at Hospital

Betty Lou died at Mahopac Hospital. She was the daughter of Marvin D. Arnold, president of a hardware firm at Lake Mahopac.

Snyder was reported in serious condition today at Julia Butterfield Hospital, Cold Spring.

Angry citizens of the Hudson river valley county gathered outside Butterfield Hospital last night, but police said they made no threats against Snyder.

Snyder had been captured May 17, 1949, in a 95-mile-an-hour chase by state police. With bullets flying, he was arrested at Verona, Oneida county. He later pleaded guilty to a grand larceny charge, and was sentenced by Madison County Judge Clarence E. Conley.

Baby Buggy Barricade

Housewives on the far South Side of Chicago threw a barricade of baby buggies across Yates street at 95th street to stop all traffic and force re-routing of vehicles, June 10. The road block was in protest against the city's use of tar and gravel as paving material, instead of asphalt.

Steelman Will Get Heating Oil Case; Agencies Disagree

Mobilization Chief to Give Opinion as Referee, Is Report; Say Boost Needed

Washington, June 12 (AP)—A decision on whether east coast consumers will have to pay more for their heating oil next winter will be tossed into the lap of Mobilization Chief John R. Steelman.

Officials reporting this yesterday, said Steelman will be asked to referee differences between the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) and the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD).

The two agencies still were unable to agree after a two hour meeting Tuesday. Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam, who presided, said they were "appreciably apart."

Officials declined to spell out the nature of the differences which Putnam called "a matter of degree rather than principle." He said the main question is "how big an incentive is necessary to assure ample supplies of fuel oil for the east coast states next winter." He declined to elaborate.

Price Boost 'Necessary'

PAD officials have said a price increase is necessary to assure sufficient oil will be shipped in to avert a shortage next winter. OPS is understood to oppose generally any change in present ceilings on grounds the earnings of the oil industry do not warrant an increase.

Price officials have indicated OPS might agree to a boost not exceeding a half-cent a gallon provided PAD will take steps to make sure the industry provides enough oil. The PAD has such authority but may be balking at any such committal.

Threat Is Posed

Meanwhile, a new threat of reduction in supplies was posed by a big independent Texas refiner. This refiner noted reports that as part of a settlement of the issues the Gulf coast ceiling on No. 2 heating oil might be lowered slightly. Oil is shipped from there to the east.

R. B. Kahle, president of the Eastern States Petroleum Company Inc., of Houston told Putnam in a telegram that if the Gulf ceiling is cut below eight cents a gallon his firm will slash production to less than half its present output of 15,000 barrels a day. He said his company's celing has been 8½ cents.

Russians Extend Order To Tighten Zone Security

Police Are Directed to Put Measures Into Effect in Border Area

Berlin, June 12 (AP)—The Soviet zone government decreed today an extension of its shoot-to-kill security measures to include the border around Berlin as well as the frontier with West Germany.

An order signed by Communist boss Walter Ulbricht, deputy prime minister, directed the state security police to "extend generally" the measures begun at first on the interzonal frontier to "hinder the entrance of diversionists, spies and terrorists in the territory of the German democratic republic."

It provided sentences of at least two years in jail for violators "unless they are not liable for higher punishment under other regulations." The death penalty is already provided for major violators of a catch-all Communist law "for protection of the peace."

Will Set Hearings On Off Track Bets

Written Sentiments Flood Wicks' Committee; Two Sides Have Speakers

Albany, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—The counsel to the Legislature's horse-racing study committee said today the "bulk of the correspondence" being received by the committee favored legalizing off-track betting in New York state.

John E. Egan of Kingston emphasized, however, that the committee, headed by Republican Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, was receiving mail from many groups opposing any off-track law.

Egan told newsmen the Wicks committee would set dates later today for the first two open hearings to be staged by the committee in its study of the feasibility of legalizing off-track betting.

The only speaker at the first hearing, in New York city, will be Herbert Bayard Swope, former chairman of the State Racing Commission, who favors off-track wagering.

The present commission chairman, Ashley Trimble Cole, who opposes off track betting, will present his views to the committee in New York city the following day, Egan said.

Other Open Hearings

Further open hearings probably will be held at Buffalo, Albany and Rochester.

Egan said that church groups and the Young Men's Christian Association have asked for speaking time at the upstate meetings.

He said that his correspondence indicated that "all church groups did not see eye to eye" on the question of off-track betting.

Egan said the committee's study would "be completely objective." He said the group planned to submit its recommendations to the 1953 Legislature.

The committee also hopes to hear opinions about off track betting from racing officials in England. Egan said that such persons might come to New York to appear at a future committee hearing.

Severe Quakes

San Juan, Argentina, June 12 (AP)—Three earthquakes within two days here in the Andean foothills have killed one person and injured 40. Thousands of others huddle outside in freezing weather rather than take shelter in buildings they fear will collapse.

Drivers Are Beaten

New York, June 12 (AP)—Six large trailer trucks were disabled and three of their drivers were beaten today in a renewal of violence growing out of a strike at the plant of Sunshine Biscuits, Inc. The injured drivers refused medical aid. One of them, George L. Melder, of Laferia, Texas, told police that during the melee his wallet, containing $400, was ripped from his pocket. Police said the other injured drivers were Harry B. Dawson, of Haines City, Fla., and Wilbur Weaver, of Plant City, Fla. It required four hours to repair the empty trucks and drive them to the plant, only three blocks away.

Complaint Is Rejected

Washington, June 12 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has rejected a complaint that some radio and television outlets blacklisted artists and workers whose names were linked with communism. In an informal statement yesterday, the FCC said it saw no reason for a general investigation. The FCC said it reached this decision after examining the complaint, filed by the American Civil Liberties Union, and the replies of the accused broadcasters, which generally denied any discriminatory practices.

Schuster Claim Rejected

New York, June 12 (AP)—A claim for $500,000 damages by the father of slain Arnold Schuster has been rejected by city officials. The comptroller's office announced yesterday it did not see justification for the claim made for Max Schuster several weeks ago. The son, a 24-year-old salesman, was mysteriously shot to death near his Brooklyn home after causing the arrest of Willie Sutton, fugitive bank robber. The elder Schuster can file suit in State Supreme Court.

Are Awarded DSC

Tokyo June 12 (AP)—Maj. Arne H. Eliasson of Poundridge Road, Bedford, N. Y., and three other U. S. army helicopter pilots who flew evacuation missions for infantrymen wounded near Heartbreak Ridge in Eastern Korea last fall have been awarded Distinguished Flying Crosses for heroism in flight. The four, then members of the 8192nd Army Unit's Helicopter Detachment, were flying hospital missions near Satae, just west of the Ridge, during the closing days of the month-long battle last October.

Marine League Meeting

The last meeting for the summer will be held by Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, at the VFW home, Delaware avenue, tonight at 7:30. There will be refreshments and movies. All members are urged to attend.

Russell Proposal on Observations at Koje Bring Varied Reactions in Washington

Washington, June 12 (AP)—A proposal advanced by Sen. Richard B. Russell (D.-Ga.) and endorsed by President Truman to invite neutral military leaders to observe the treatment of Communist prisoners of war on strife-torn Koje Island got a mixed reaction in Congress today.

Some Democratic senators said it would help offset Communist propaganda about the "mistreatment" of Red prisoners. But Republicans, if not hostile to the idea, expressed skepticism that it would prove effective.

One senator, who was unwilling to be quoted until he had studied the proposal further, told a reporter he feared it might be taken as an admission of weakness.

President Truman suggested in a letter to Secretary of Defense Lovett yesterday that military men from five nations be asked to visit Korea to see at firsthand how Communist prisoners are treated by United Nations forces.

(Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, the new commander charged with cracking Communist rule over Koje's compounds, said in Korea: "The President of the United States is my commander-in-chief and I was very happy that he extended this invitation to members of neutral nations.")

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, advanced the idea in a call at the White House two days ago.

A visit to Koje Island by high-ranking neutral military observers, Russell suggested, would be a means of refuting "the mass of falsehoods which are being broadcast to the world by the Communist propaganda machine."

Truman forwarded Russell's memorandum to Lovett with the comment that the proposal had a lot of merit.

"Ie seems to me," the President wrote, "that it would be well to ask Sweden, Switzerland, India, Pakistan and Indonesia to send military men to Korea to take a look at the situation and see what really is happening."

Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, one of Russell's rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, promptly called it "an excellent suggestion." Similar comments were made by Sens. Fulbright (D.-Ark.) and Moody (D.-Mich.).

But Sen. Bridges (R.-NH.) took the view that "we don't need representatives of other nations to go there and tell us if we are conducting the prison camps properly."

Bridges, the GOP leader in the Senate and top Republican on Russell's Armed Services Committee, said all kinds of reports already have been received and "each day adds some new phase to the disgraceful conditions on Koje."

"The only trouble with American and UN supervision there is that they have been too lenient and have compromised their position," he said.

Sen. Saltonsall (R.-Mass.), another member of the Armed Services Committee, said a visit to Koje by neutral observers would do no harm but he added he was not hopeful "that it would stop the lies of Communist propaganda."

Proposal Is Voted Down on Truman Steel Operation

House Committee Won't Stand for Seizure or U. S. Running Industry

Washington, June 12 (AP) — A House committee voted down 15 to 10 today a proposal that President Truman be empowered to seize and operate the struck steel mills.

It was the first formal vote by any House group since Truman went before Congress Tuesday and pleaded for this power.

The Senate previously had rebuffed Truman by voting that he should use anti-strike provisions of the Taff-Hartley law in an effort to end the strike of 650,000 CIO Steel Workers. And today senators favoring seizure power for the President abandoned their fight to write it into wage-price controls legislation. They said they would propose it again later in a separate bill.

The seizure question was raised in the House Banking Committee by Rep. Bolling (D-Mo.) who proposed it as an amendment to legislation extending the economic controls law.

How They Voted

Bolling's amendment was a duplicate of that offered in the Senate Tuesday by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and rejected by that body.

Members reported nine Democrats and one Republican supported the seizure move in the House committee. Five Democrats and 10 Republicans were against it. One Democrat voted present and one Republican was absent.

The House group is working on its own version of a new wage-price controls law to replace the present one which expires June 30.

The Senate battling over seizure power has been in connection with the Senate's own version of controls legislation.

Judy Garland Weds

San Francisco, June 12 (AP)—Judy Garland, everybody's kid sister a few years ago, was embarked on her third marriage today after a secret wedding to her business agent, Sid Luft. But she'll have to wait until tomorrow to take up her wifely duties. While she's starring in her own show here, Luft was getting some bad news in Los Angeles: A judge decreed he must increase his child support payments to his second wife, actress Lynn Bari, from $200 to $400 a month. They have a 3-year-old son.

Williams Accused of Beating Man to Death at Fort Dix

Trenton, N. J., June 12 (AP)—A federal court jury in the murder trial of Pvt. Robert L. Williams of New Paltz, N. Y., has been told it would hear witnesses to whom the soldier allegedly admitted slaying a Fort Dix sergeant.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Stuart B. Rounds told the jury of 10 men and two women yesterday he would produce three such witnesses. He made the statement in opening remarks as the first murder trial in a New Jersey federal court in almost a decade got underway.

Williams, 28, is accused of fatally beating Sgt. Herman Weiner of Philadelphia, who was found dead in his barracks bed at Fort Dix Feb. 5. Shortly after, Williams was picked up in New Paltz along with Weiner's car which authorities said the private had stolen.

Reserves Right

Rounds said he reserved the right to recommend the death penalty for Williams until after the defense had completed presenting its case. Rounds told newsmen he would need about six or seven trial days to complete his case. The defense's presentation would follow.

Frank S. Katzenbach of Trenton, defense counsel, told the jury

Teen-agers Admit Shooting Out 55 Windows, School 2

Four boys about 13 and 14 years old have admitted shooting out 55 windows of School No. 2 with slingshots, Detective Clarence W. Brophy said today.

Some of the windows in the school, located at Montrepose avenue and West Chestnut street, had as many as five holes in them, Brophy said. He stated that both the slingshots and pellets described as the size of buckshot, were purchased from a local store.

The acts were committed on three different days, Wednesday and Friday of last week and Monday of this week, according to Brophy. He said that the boys went over to the schoolyard in the late afternoon.

Many of the pellets failed to penetrate the glass but caused the windows to crack badly. Damage is estimated at approximately $150. Statements obtained by Brophy were turned over to Principal Frank B. Radcliffe who will report the incidents to the board of education.

Eisenhower Favors Cut In Taxes With Economy

New York, June 12 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has been quoted as saying that he favors a 40 billion dollar tax cut over the next two or three years through more economy in government and less deficit spending.

The GOP aspirant for the presidential nomination met yesterday with New York Republican delegates at a closed meeting and reportedly outlined a two-point domestic program and discussed probelms of world peace.

On the domestic front, the general urged an end to deficit spending by government and reorganization of the government along lines suggested by the Hoover Commission.

Secondly, Eisenhower was quoted as saying, he favors a tax cut of 40 billions instead of 10 billions as proposed by some Republican legislators.

Federal levies now have reached about 80 billions, and President Truman has asked for an 85-billion dollar budget for the fiscal year 1953.

If the budget is not reduced drastically, the general said, inflationary pressures ultimately could throttle the nation's economic life.

Such a budget goal, he said, ties in with the question of Russia and possibilities of another world war.

The Soviet Union, Eisenhower reportedly said, deliberately is fostering world fear and anxiety. But the buildup of economic and military strength in all free nations, he said, makes possible the removal of war fears within several years and would stop Communist infiltration.

He expressed doubt the Russians would start a war unless convinced of a quick victory, adding that the Russian leaders like their jobs too well to risk losing them.

After the meeting, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, an ardent backer of Eisenhower, said the general is "making steady progress" and should be nominated next month.

Capt. Duffy Was Making Crash Drop

Marine Corps Reservist Swerved Aircraft to Miss Five Golfers Near Mamaroneck

Wing Hits Tree

Women Tell How Area Airman Attempted to Avoid Them

Capt. George G. Duffy, 30, of Rosendale was instantly killed shortly before noon Wednesday when he swerved his Navy fighter plane to avoid hitting a golfing party during a crash landing at the Bonnie Briar Country Club at Mamaroneck.

Capt. Duffy, a Marine Corps Reserve pilot, operated The Duffy Agency, general insurance and bonds, in Rosendale, Kingston and Stone Ridge. He resided on James street, Rosendale, with his wife, the former Jayne Mayer, and their two-year-old son, Brian.

The single-seater Navy F6F fighter that Duffy was piloting burst into flame after landing upside down at the bottom of a knoll on the golf course, narrowly missing a group of five women players and three caddies.

Tried to Swerve

Members of the golfing party later told police that the pilot, in an attempt to avoid them, tried to swerve the plane. The right wing hit a tree, which lifted it and flipped the plane over, they said.

The plane slide on the green about 50 yards before it came to a stop and burst into flames.

Fire blazed in the plane's cockpit for nearly a half-hour before it was extinguished by the Mamaroneck Fire Department.

Identification of the flier was made by authorities at Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, after a helmet was found near the wreckage with the name G. G. Duffy printed on it.

The golfers, who were not injured, have been listed as Mrs. Harry Loose, Bronxville; Mrs. Richard Durham, New Rochelle; and Mrs. Dan H. Edmonson, Mrs. Norman H. Smeltzer and Mrs. Alexander Heid, Jr., all of Scarsdale. The caddies in the party were Emil Sturino, Mamaroneck; Joseph Bevilacqua and John DeBello, both of New Rochelle.

Was on Routine Flight

Capt. Duffy, a Marine Corps veteran of World War 2, was on a routine training flight for the Marine Corps Reserve.

He was born April 12, 1922, son of John J. and Mary Heenan Duffy of LeFever Falls, who survive him. He was a graduate of New Paltz High School.

Entering the Marine Corps in 1942, Duffy was a Marine Corps pilot and flew during the war as a first lieutenant. He served in the Pacific Theatre of Operations. Prior to the war, he was employed by Brewster Aircraft Company of Long Island City.

In 1946, Duffy returned to civilian life, but retained his Marine Corps connections as a member of its reserve corps, in which he held the rank of captain at the time of his death.

He was married to the former Jayne Mayer, and they have one son, Brian, aged two. They resided on James street, Rosendale.

Accepted by Pan American

For the past two years, he operated The Duffy Agency, general insurance and bonds, in Rosendale, Kingston and Stone

Snyder was reported in serious condition today at Julia Butterfield Hospital, Cold Spring.

Angry citizens of the Hudson river valley county gathered outside Butterfield Hospital last night, but police said they made no threats against Snyder.

Snyder had been captured May 17, 1949, in a 95-mile-an-hour chase by state police. With bullets flying, he was arrested at Verona, Oneida county. He later pleaded guilty to a grand larceny charge, and was sentenced by Madison County Judge Clarence E. Conley.

Baby Buggy Barricade

Housewives on the far South Side of Chicago threw a barricade of baby buggies across Yates street at 95th street to stop all traffic and force re-routing of vehicles, June 10. The road block was in protest against the city's use of tar and gravel as paving material, instead of asphalt.

Steelman Will Get Heating Oil Case; Agencies Disagree

Mobilization Chief to Give Opinion as Referee, Is Report; Say Boost Needed

Washington, June 12 (AP)—A decision on whether east coast consumers will have to pay more for their heating oil next winter will be tossed into the lap of Mobilization Chief John R. Steelman.

Officials reporting this yesterday, said Steelman will be asked to referee differences between the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) and the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD).

The two agencies still were unable to agree after a two hour meeting Tuesday. Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam, who presided, said they were "appreciably apart."

Officials declined to spell out the nature of the differences which Putnam called "a matter of degree rather than principle." He said the main question is "how big an incentive is necessary to assure ample supplies of fuel oil for the east coast states next winter." He declined to elaborate.

Price Boost 'Necessary'

PAD officials have said a price increase is necessary to assure sufficient oil will be shipped in to avert a shortage next winter. OPS is understood to oppose generally any change in present ceilings on grounds the earnings of the oil industry do not warrant an increase.

Price officials have indicated OPS might agree to a boost not exceeding a half-cent a gallon provided PAD will take steps to make sure the industry provides enough oil. The PAD has such authority but may be balking at any such committal.

Threat Is Posed

Meanwhile, a new threat of reduction in supplies was posed by a big independent Texas refiner. This refiner noted reports that as part of a settlement of the issues the Gulf coast ceiling on No. 2 heating oil might be lowered slightly. Oil is shipped from there to the east.

R. B. Kahle, president of the Eastern States Petroleum Company Inc., of Houston told Putnam in a telegram that if the Gulf ceiling is cut below eight cents a gallon his firm will slash production to less than half its present output of 15,000 barrels a day. He said his company's celing has been 8½ cents.

Will Set Hearings On Off Track Bets

Written Sentiments Flood Wicks' Committee; Two Sides Have Speakers

Albany, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—The counsel to the Legislature's horse-racing study committee said today the "bulk of the correspondence" being received by the committee favored legalizing off-track betting in New York state.

John E. Egan of Kingston emphasized, however, that the committee, headed by Republican Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, was receiving mail from many groups opposing any off-track law.

Egan told newsmen the Wicks committee would set dates later today for the first two open hearings to be staged by the committee in its study of the feasibility of legalizing off-track betting.

The only speaker at the first hearing, in New York city, will be Herbert Bayard Swope, former chairman of the State Racing Commission, who favors off-track wagering.

The present commission chairman, Ashley Trimble Cole, who opposes off track betting, will present his views to the committee in New York city the following day, Egan said.

Other Open Hearings

Further open hearings probably will be held at Buffalo, Albany and Rochester.

Egan said that church groups and the Young Men's Christian Association have asked for speaking time at the upstate meetings.

He said that his correspondence indicated that "all church groups did not see eye to eye" on the question of off-track betting.

Egan said the committee's study would "be completely objective." He said the group planned to submit its recommendations to the 1953 Legislature.

The committee also hopes to hear opinions about off track betting from racing officials in England. Egan said that such persons might come to New York to appear at a future committee hearing.

Severe Quakes

San Juan, Argentina, June 12 (AP)—Three earthquakes within two days here in the Andean foothills have killed one person and injured 40. Thousands of others huddle outside in freezing weather rather than take shelter in buildings they fear will collapse.

Police Are Directed to Put Measures Into Effect in Border Area

Berlin, June 12 (AP)—The Soviet zone government decreed today an extension of its shoot-to-kill security measures to include the border around Berlin as well as the frontier with West Germany.

An order signed by Communist boss Walter Ulbricht, deputy prime minister, directed the state security police to "extend generally" the measures begun at first on the interzonal frontier to "hinder the entrance of diversionists, spies and terrorists in the territory of the German democratic republic."

It provided sentences of at least two years in jail for violators "unless they are not liable for higher punishment under other regulations." The death penalty is already provided for major violators of a catch-all Communist law "for protection of the peace."

Drivers Are Beaten

New York, June 12 (AP)—Six large trailer trucks were disabled and three of their drivers were beaten today in a renewal of violence growing out of a strike at the plant of Sunshine Biscuits, Inc. The injured drivers refused medical aid. One of them, George L. Melder, of Laferia, Texas, told police that during the melee his wallet, containing $400, was ripped from his pocket. Police said the other injured drivers were Harry B. Dawson, of Haines City, Fla., and Wilbur Weaver, of Plant City, Fla. It required four hours to repair the empty trucks and drive them to the plant, only three blocks away.

Complaint Is Rejected

Washington, June 12 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has rejected a complaint that some radio and television outlets blacklisted artists and workers whose names were linked with communism. In an informal statement yesterday, the FCC said it saw no reason for a general investigation. The FCC said it reached this decision after examining the complaint, filed by the American Civil Liberties Union, and the replies of the accused broadcasters, which generally denied any discriminatory practices.

Schuster Claim Rejected

New York, June 12 (AP)—A claim for $500,000 damages by the father of slain Arnold Schuster has been rejected by city officials. The comptroller's office announced yesterday it did not see justification for the claim made for Max Schuster several weeks ago. The son, a 24-year-old salesman, was mysteriously shot to death near his Brooklyn home after causing the arrest of Willie Sutton, fugitive bank robber. The elder Schuster can file suit in State Supreme Court.

Are Awarded DSC

Tokyo June 12 (AP)—Maj. Arne H. Eliasson of Poundridge Road, Bedford, N. Y., and three other U. S. army helicopter pilots who flew evacuation missions for infantrymen wounded near Heartbreak Ridge in Eastern Korea last fall have been awarded Distinguished Flying Crosses for heroism in flight. The four, then members of the 8192nd Army Unit's Helicopter Detachment, were flying hospital missions near Satae, just west of the Ridge, during the closing days of the month-long battle last October.

Russell Proposal on Observations at Koje Bring Varied Reactions in Washington

Washington, June 12 (AP)—A proposal advanced by Sen. Richard B. Russell (D.-Ga.) and endorsed by President Truman to invite neutral military leaders to observe the treatment of Communist prisoners of war on strife-torn Koje Island got a mixed reaction in Congress today.

Some Democratic senators said it would help offset Communist propaganda about the "mistreatment" of Red prisoners. But Republicans, if not hostile to the idea, expressed skepticism that it would prove effective.

One senator, who was unwilling to be quoted until he had studied the proposal further, told a reporter he feared it might be taken as an admission of weakness.

President Truman suggested in a letter to Secretary of Defense Lovett yesterday that military men from five nations be asked to visit Korea to see at firsthand how Communist prisoners are treated by United Nations forces.

(Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, the new commander charged with cracking Communist rule over Koje's compounds, said in Korea: "The President of the United States is my commander-in-chief and I was very happy that he extended this invitation to members of neutral nations.")

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, advanced the idea in a call at the White House two days ago.

A visit to Koje Island by high-ranking neutral military observers, Russell suggested, would be a means of refuting "the mass of falsehoods which are being broadcast to the world by the Communist propaganda machine."

Truman forwarded Russell's memorandum to Lovett with the comment that the proposal had a lot of merit.

"Ie seems to me," the President wrote, "that it would be well to ask Sweden, Switzerland, India, Pakistan and Indonesia to send military men to Korea to take a look at the situation and see what really is happening."

Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, one of Russell's rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, promptly called it "an excellent suggestion." Similar comments were made by Sens. Fulbright (D.-Ark.) and Moody (D.-Mich.).

But Sen. Bridges (R.-NH.) took the view that "we don't need representatives of other nations to go there and tell us if we are conducting the prison camps properly."

Bridges, the GOP leader in the Senate and top Republican on Russell's Armed Services Committee, said all kinds of reports already have been received and "each day adds some new phase to the disgraceful conditions on Koje."

"The only trouble with American and UN supervision there is that they have been too lenient and have compromised their position," he said.

Sen. Saltonsall (R.-Mass.), another member of the Armed Services Committee, said a visit to Koje by neutral observers would do no harm but he added he was not hopeful "that it would stop the lies of Communist propaganda."

Proposal Is Voted Down on Truman Steel Operation

House Committee Won't Stand for Seizure or U. S. Running Industry

Washington, June 12 (AP) — A House committee voted down 15 to 10 today a proposal that President Truman be empowered to seize and operate the struck steel mills.

It was the first formal vote by any House group since Truman went before Congress Tuesday and pleaded for this power.

The Senate previously had rebuffed Truman by voting that he should use anti-strike provisions of the Taft-Hartley law in an effort to end the strike of 650,000 CIO Steel Workers. And today senators favoring seizure power for the President abandoned their fight to write it into wage-price controls legislation. They said they would propose it again later in a separate bill.

The seizure question was raised in the House Banking Committee by Rep. Bolling (D-Mo.) who proposed it as an amendment to legislation extending the economic controls law.

How They Voted

Bolling's amendment was a duplicate of that offered in the Senate Tuesday by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and rejected by that body.

Members reported nine Democrats and one Republican supported the seizure move in the House committee. Five Democrats and 10 Republicans were against it. One Democrat voted present and one Republican was absent.

The House group is working on its own version of a new wage-price controls law to replace the present one which expires June 30.

The Senate battling over seizure power has been in connection with the Senate's own version of controls legislation.

Judy Garland Weds

San Francisco, June 12 (AP)—Judy Garland, everybody's kid sister a few years ago, was embarked on her third marriage today after a secret wedding to her business agent, Sid Luft. But she'll have to wait until tomorrow to take up her wifely duties. While she's starring in her own show here, Luft was getting some bad news in Los Angeles: A judge decreed he must increase his child support payments to his second wife, actress Lynn Bari, from $200 to $400 a month. They have a 3-year-old son.

Williams Accused of Beating Man to Death at Fort Dix

Trenton, N. J., June 12 (AP)—A federal court jury in the murder trial of Pvt. Robert L. Williams of New Paltz, N. Y., has been told it would hear witnesses to whom the soldier allegedly admitted slaying a Fort Dix sergeant.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Stuart B. Rounds told the jury of 10 men and two women yesterday he would produce three such witnesses. He made the statement in opening remarks as the first murder trial in a New Jersey federal court in almost a decade got underway.

Williams, 28, is accused of fatally beating Sgt. Herman Weiner of Philadelphia, who was found dead in his barracks bed at Fort Dix Feb. 5. Shortly after, Williams was picked up in New Paltz along with Weiner's car which authorities said the private had stolen.

Reserves Right

Rounds said he reserved the right to recommend the death penalty for Williams until after the defense had completed presenting its case. Rounds told newsmen he would need about six or seven trial days to complete his case. The defense's presentation would follow.

Frank S. Katzenbach of Trenton, defense counsel, told the jury

Teen-agers Admit Shooting Out 55 Windows, School 2

Four boys about 13 and 14 years old have admitted shooting out 55 windows of School No. 2 with slingshots, Detective Clarence W. Brophy said today.

Some of the windows in the school, located at Montrepose avenue and West Chestnut street, had as many as five holes in them, Brophy said. He stated that both the slingshots and pellets described as the size of buckshot, were purchased from a local store.

The acts were committed on three different days, Wednesday and Friday of last week and Monday of this week, according to Brophy. He said that the boys went over to the schoolyard in the late afternoon.

Many of the pellets failed to penetrate the glass but caused the windows to crack badly. Damage is estimated at approximately $150. Statements obtained by Brophy were turned over to Principal Frank B. Radcliffe who will report the incidents to the board of education.

Eisenhower Favors Cut In Taxes With Economy

New York, June 12 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has been quoted as saying that he favors a 40 billion dollar tax cut over the next two or three years through more economy in government and less deficit spending.

The GOP aspirant for the presidential nomination met yesterday with New York Republican delegates at a closed meeting and reportedly outlined a two-point domestic program and discussed probelms of world peace.

On the domestic front, the general urged an end to deficit spending by government and reorganization of the government along lines suggested by the Hoover Commission.

Secondly, Eisenhower was quoted as saying, he favors a tax cut of 40 billions instead of 10 billions as proposed by some Republican legislators.

Federal levies now have reached about 80 billions, and President Truman has asked for an 85-billion dollar budget for the fiscal year 1953.

If the budget is not reduced drastically, the general said, inflationary pressures ultimately could throttle the nation's economic life.

Such a budget goal, he said, ties in with the question of Russia and possibilities of another world war.

The Soviet Union, Eisenhower reportedly said, deliberately is fostering world fear and anxiety. But the buildup of economic and military strength in all free nations, he said, makes possible the removal of war fears within several years and would stop Communist infiltration.

He expressed doubt the Russians would start a war unless convinced of a quick victory, adding that the Russian leaders like their jobs too well to risk losing them.

After the meeting, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, an ardent backer of Eisenhower, said the general is "making steady progress" and should be nominated next month.

Capt. Duffy Was Making Crash Drop

Marine Corps Reservist Swerved Aircraft to Miss Five Golfers Near Mamaroneck

Wing Hits Tree

Women Tell How Area Airman Attempted to Avoid Them

Capt. George G. Duffy, 30, of Rosendale was instantly killed shortly before noon Wednesday when he swerved his Navy fighter plane to avoid hitting a golfing party during a crash landing at the Bonnie Briar Country Club at Mamaroneck.

Capt. Duffy, a Marine Corps Reserve pilot, operated The Duffy Agency, general insurance and bonds, in Rosendale, Kingston and Stone Ridge. He resided on James street, Rosendale, with his wife, the former Jayne Mayer, and their two-year-old son, Brian.

The single-seater Navy F6F fighter that Duffy was piloting burst into flame after landing upside down at the bottom of a knoll on the golf course, narrowly missing a group of five women players and three caddies.

Tried to Swerve

Members of the golfing party later told police that the pilot, in an attempt to avoid them, tried to swerve the plane. The right wing hit a tree, which lifted it and flipped the plane over, they said.

The plane slide on the green about 50 yards before it came to a stop and burst into flames.

Fire blazed in the plane's cockpit for nearly a half-hour before it was extinguished by the Mamaroneck Fire Department.

Identification of the flier was made by authorities at Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, after a helmet was found near the wreckage with the name G. G. Duffy printed on it.

The golfers, who were not injured, have been listed as Mrs. Harry Loose, Bronxville; Mrs. Richard Durham, New Rochelle; and Mrs. Dan H. Edmonson, Mrs. Norman H. Smeltzer and Mrs. Alexander Heid, Jr., all of Scarsdale. The caddies in the party were Emil Sturino, Mamaroneck; Joseph Bevilacqua and John DeBello, both of New Rochelle.

Was on Routine Flight

Capt. Duffy, a Marine Corps veteran of World War 2, was on a routine training flight for the Marine Corps Reserve.

He was born April 12, 1922, son of John J. and Mary Heenan Duffy of LeFever Falls, who survive him. He was a graduate of New Paltz High School.

Entering the Marine Corps in 1942, Duffy was a Marine Corps pilot and flew during the war as a first lieutenant. He served in the Pacific Theatre of Operations. Prior to the war, he was employed by Brewster Aircraft Company of Long Island City.

In 1946, Duffy returned to civilian life, but retained his Marine Corps connections as a member of its reserve corps, in which he held the rank of captain at the time of his death.

He was married to the former Jayne Mayer, and they have one son, Brian, aged two. They resided on James street, Rosendale.

Accepted by Pan American

For the past two years, he operated The Duffy Agency, general insurance and bonds, in Rosendale, Kingston and Stone

Reds Rewarded

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya (AP) — The Malayan government has awarded $4,290 to three Communist terrorists who surrendered recently and later returned to their jungle camp to bring out 10 compatriots and quantitites of weapons. The 13 Reds, all Chinese, had said they feared to surrender before as they had been told all who surrendered were either put to death or jailed.

About one-fourth of all cropland in North Carolina is planted to corn.

Lost Is Found

Consort, Canada (AP) — Mrs. C. E. Gould, who lost her wedding ring on the family's Nova Scotia farm 42 years ago, received word recently that it had been found by an eight-year-old grand-niece, Beverly MacKay.

Social Security Law Provisions

George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston Social Security Office submits another in a series of articles on the provisions of the Social Security Act:

Veterans of World War 2 were granted social security credit for their military service under the 1950 amendments. Dates into which such military service fall are after September 15, 1940, and before July 25, 1947.

Because social security benefits are figured on an average monthly wage, such a wage had to be established. The law doesn't give each veteran credit for what his individual salary was during his period of service, but sets a flat amount of $160 a month for all veterans.

Consequently, a veteran of World War 2 who is 65 years of age now (and there are some), or any veteran who dies, has a social security record regardless of whether he has even been employed on jobs covered by the Social Security Act.

At the present time only a year and a half of social security credits are needed for an insured status under the social security program. Most veterans have that much service. Before July 1, 1954, therefore, most veterans who are 65 years of age, or who die before that date, could be entitled to old-age benefits, or their survivors to survivors' benefits, based on military service alone.

Since 40 quarters or ten years of coverage will be necessary for complete protection at 65 for the average veteran, his military record alone would not normally entitle him to benefits.

If, as the social security law matures, the benefit is computed using the January 1, 1951, date as the most advantageous to the client, the military record of that client will not be a factor.

Military credits were granted because the Congress felt that many soldiers were deprived of an opportunity to build up their social security accounts because their military service, a call to duty, interferred with what otherwise would have been considered normal pursuits.

Our office is located in the Central Post Office Building, Kingston. We are open every day except Saturday from 8:30 a. m. through 5 p. m.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

In Tuesday's issue of The Freeman, there appeared the story of 26 seniors of Kingston High School, who so far this year have won 28 scholarships, totaling $23,700. Principal John Henry Martin together with the members of the faculty take great pride in this outstanding achievement and the community extends its felicitations to both students and educators.

It is pointed out that an equally important reason for satisfaction lies in the fact that the major share of these scholarship funds are being contributed by colleges and universities in a time when they themselves are beset by economic difficulties because of the mounting costs of operation. This cooperation in the form of scholarship funds is the finest tribute they possibly can make to any school. This also is something of which not only Kingston High School but the entire community may be proud.

AIRMEN CAN'T WIN WARS ALONE

Because of the way the issue was broached, the question of America's air power has been plunged into the thick of politics. This is unfortunate, since the strategic aspects ought to transcend politics.

Senator Taft began the current discussion by asserting that our only safe course is to create air strength "sufficient to control the air over this country, over the oceans which surround this continent and able to deliver atom bombs on Russian cities."

He feels that America's "land generals" blocked the adoption of such a policy. He clearly believes that proper stress upon air power will do away with the need for a large land force and that the net result will be sounder and cheaper military security.

Now there is probably not a competent "land general" in this country who would deny the dominant role of air power in any future war. And certainly the air generals would like to see a vast expansion of their forces for both offensive and defensive use.

But it is also likely that no qualified air general believes that even the happiest enlargement of air power he can envisage would make this nation safe without accompanying land power.

It has been said again and again but apparently it does not register on those who simply do not wish to believe it: air experts are convinced you cannot count on delivering the atom bomb effectively by reliance only on long-range bombers. They are currently dubious about the place of the giant bomber in that task. They insist that medium-range bombers would inevitably carry a big part of the burden.

Medium-range bombers mean bases closer to potential Russian targets than the continental United States or even any chain of islands in mid-Atlantic. They mean bases in Europe and North Africa.

And bases cannot be held by air power alone. They are land. They must be protected by land forces, and not necessarily those of the country whose territory is involved. This is just rock-bottom fact from which no competent military strategist, whatever his belief in air power, attempts to escape.

There is no evidence, either, that a colossal air force would save the country money. The cost of planes alone is staggering today. But beyond that there would have to be a huge allotment of manpower to cover air crews, maintenance and administration. Even our present air force demands a million men.

To rely fully upon air power, too, would put the fate of Europe's great cities in the hands of long-range bombers whose usefulness in any new war is uncertain. Naturally we should encourage the Europeans to fight a land-war on the continent—should it come—with all they can muster. Yet, since our own security is involved in the safety of Europe, it would seem sensible to have some share in the ground defense.

Beyond these purely selfish considerations, we still consider the Europeans our friends and Allies. What assurance is it to them to be told: "Never mind if the Russians pour across your cities. We'll bomb their cities to ruins".

Especially since no one who has anything to do with really employing air power believes a war could be fought successfully that way.

THE FOREIGN ATMOSPHERE

Whenever I come among foreigners, particularly such as represent their countries in the United States or at the United Nations, I cannot help wondering if they know anything at all about this country and the American people or whether they even care.

In the first place, most of them congregate in New York and Washington where they only read the comparatively small circulation newspapers that please them. They read the columnists who have a great reputation as friends of Europe but whose impress in America is limited to the internationalist coterie. One would imagine that these foreign representatives would realize that as long as they are dependent upon our subsidies, they ought to know what Main Street thinks.

These people talk to each other a great deal, but they rarely talk to those Americans whose influence lopped a billion dollars and more off the foreign aid bill. When they believe, as they really do, that if we stopped subsidizing Europe and Asia, we should go into a deep depression, one can only remind them that that is what Stalin and Henry Wallace and even Harry Truman thought would happen in 1946 and it has not happened yet.

They explain this phenomenon—and they all talk alike—by saying that we stayed out of a depression by making the Korean War and by the Marshall Plan, ECA, and NATO. What knocks me over every time I get into one of these discussions is that these people honestly believe that we got into the Korean War to keep out of a depression and that the Europeans actually are doing a great favor by letting us give them aid to defend their countries, as otherwise we should decay into a hopeless bankruptcy. The Marshall Plan, from their standpoint, was not American aid to Europe; it was European aid to America.

If you think that I am making all this up, get into an argument with these gentlemen or their ladies. It will not take you long to discover that nobody is grateful for what we have done, for $50,000,000,000 of Lend-Lease during World War II or about $30,000,000,000 since. We did all that to keep out of a depression and they took the money to help us stay out of depression and war.

I am a very mild-mannered person, but when I am told to my face, as often happens, that if we stop giving our money, the entire world will unite against us, I am tempted to say, unite and be damned, because there is something impudent and intolerable in the attitude of these people who accept our bounty without shame, yet hate us for it. And they seem to admit that there is an emotional response in Europe against parvenu America that is so rich and powerful.

It is like an old relative who has seen better days and who must make a nuisance of herself to prove that what is done for her is her due and not the goodness of young hearts.

I was recently told that the backward nations are not responsible for their backwardness, but rather that they should be aided to become forward nations by American money dispensed by the United Nations.

When I asked why, if the United States pays for all this progress, should we not do the job ourselves, pasting an American label on it, they answer that that is not humane. It is colonialism. It should all be sheer charity, with no return intended or expected. Point Four is like that, but, according to beneficiaries, it ought to be done entirely by the United Nations so that nobody will have to be grateful to anybody.

When I listen to Park Avenue ladies talking gushingly that way, I do not feel much pain. They are a dying race among us. But when I hear the men who are reporting America to European nations talk that way, I realize that there is trouble in store for us when we have to tell these foreigners that we can give them no more subsidies, that it is none of our business to keep their politicians in power and that we despise their Socialism of whatever form.

It would do these people good if they traveled in this country and listened to what most Americans think of them and their gimmies.

PHYSICIAN, PATIENT, AND OURSELVES

I once accompanied a railroad surgeon as he visited each victim of a serious railroad wreck. Several people had been killed and some of the survivors were so seriously injured that they died within the next couple of days. I asked him how he would be able to sleep, knowing that some of these patients would die before his next visit.

His reply was characteristic. "I have been all over each patient carefully and have done all I can to ease their pain and save their lives. I have then gone over each case in turn in my mind and asked myself if there was anything more I could do. I am satisfied in my mind that I have done everything possible, my mind is at rest for this reason and so I'll be able to sleep."

I am reminded of this incident in reading an article in Medical Clinics of North America by Dr. Leroy H. Sloan, clinical professor of medicine, University of Illinois College of Medicine, in which he quoted Sir William Osler at a farewell banquet before he left for Oxford as stating, "I have three personal ideals. One, to do the day's work well and not bother about tomorrow. The second ideal has been to act the Golden Rule as far as in me lay toward my professional brethren and towards the patients committed to my care. And the third has been to cultivate such a measure of equanimity as would enable me to bear success with humility, the affection of my friends without pride, and to be ready when the day of sorrow and grief came to meet it with courage befitting a man."

While Dr. Sloan is writing to physicians and patients, I believe we can all try our best to make these ideals of Osler a part of our own daily life. If we, as the day is over, can feel that we have done an honest day's work, as far as were able with our knowledge and ability, we should all be able to obtain natural sleep. As a matter of fact, it is the little and occasionally the large affairs in our daily lives in which we show indecision and neglect that come to us during the night and interfere with sleep.

Osler's doing a good day's work and following the Golden Rule prepare one for serenity of mind and natural sleep or rest.

To the Reds It Looks Like Nothing but a Challenge

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — President Truman wrote another personal letter the other day, this one to Amon Carter, No. 1 citizen of Fort Worth, Tex. However, he didn't mail it—at least, not the original draft.

He slept on it, finally tore the original draft up.

But the inside fact is that when the President sounded off on tidelands oil at the Americans for Democratic Action dinner two weeks ago, a letter from Amon Carter was the cause of it.

Carter, famed for his efforts to keep the City of Fort Worth ahead of its rival Dallas, also famous for handing a ten-gallon hat to every prominent visitor, happens to be on friendly terms with President Truman. The President likes and respects him.

However, just as the Tidelands Oil Bill was passed by Congress and sent to the White House, Carter wrote the President a letter arguing that the school children of Texas would be robbed of oil royalties if the bill were vetoed.

It was at this point that the President drafted a hot reply to Amon, then thought better of it, consulted with aides, and tore his letter up. Instead, he made a speech before the ADA, calling the Tidelands Oil Bill "robbery in broad daylight."

Ferguson's Junket

Michigan's ever-angry Senator Homer Ferguson was full of righteous wrath the other day against government-paid junkets for newspapermen. But when his own globe-trotting at the taxpayers' expense came under fire, he managed to censor the objectionable information out of the public record.

With a commendable regard for economy, Ferguson vigorously lashed out against the policy of some government agencies to furnish free transportation for newsmen. This led Texas' caustic Sen. Tom Connally to remark: "The senator from Michigan (Ferguson) was flying all over the Far East in a government airplane. I am sure that I heard no objections to that."

"It was not in a government airplane," sputtered Ferguson.

"It might not have been a government airplane, but I am sure it was at the government's expense," drawled Connally.

"The senator from Rhode Island, Mr. Green, was along, too," was Ferguson's only defense.

It is the privilege of a senator, in case he sticks his foot in his mouth, to edit and alter his remarks on the Senate floor before the official record is published. With Connally's later consent, Ferguson took advantage of this privilege to keep the public from reading about his travels. But this column obtained a copy of the expurgated remarks, in case the public might be interested in reading what Ferguson didn't want them to read.

Kefauver and Truman

The personal talk with President Truman and Senator Kefauver last week was pleasant but inconclusive.

Kefauver told Truman that he had come to report on the state of the Democratic party around the country, and they talked for about 20 minutes on party matters with the President asking about various local leaders. His memory for names was remarkable.

Kefauver then said he hoped the President would take no part in the prenomination fight, and Truman promised that he would not. He added that he hoped the race "would leave no scars that would not be healed after the convention." Kefauver replied that, as far as he was concerned, there would be no scars.

The President then talked about his veto of the Tidelands Oil Bill, and Kefauver promised to uphold the veto when it comes up in the Senate. The visit was polite, friendly, and that's all.

Capital News Capsules

Maine Primary—Senator Brewster of Maine rushed back to Washington in the middle of his campaign last week to try to stop an investigation of himself. The Senate Elections Committee had sent an investigator to Maine to check on testimony that Brewster offered $25,000 to a liquor dealer in order to influence his opponent, Governor Payne. Brewster was furious when he learned about the investigation. He caught the first plane back to the Senate and slipped around to see the committee members. The Spanish government's hired lobbyist, Charles Patrick Clark, also got busy lobbying, trying to persuade the committee to call off the dogs.

Navy Politics—Secretary of the Navy Kimball again defied his boss, Secretary of Defense Lovett, by sounding off on supercarriers recently. Last January Kimball got in hot water with Lovett by calling for 10 supercarriers. At a closed-door meeting with businessmen not long ago, Kimball not only repeated his demand, but said he hadn't asked for enough supercarriers—the number should be doubled.

Southern Delegates—The Taft forces pulled another raw deal recently that didn't get into the papers. In Birmingham, Curtis Adkins, for Taft, and Claude Vardeman, for Eisenhower, shook hands on a deal in the Tutweiler Hotel in Birmingham, to split Alabama's delegates at large—two for Taft and two for Ike. But, after making the bargin Adkins double-crossed the Eisenhower forces and rammed through three delegates for Taft.

Koje Island Punishment—The Senate Armed Services Committee is not satisfied with the light punishment given to the Koje Island generals. At a closed-door meeting, committee members agreed that Generals Francis Dodd and Charles Colson got off too easy when they were busted to colonels. They also agreed to call all the principals in the Koje Island fiasco back to the states for stiff cross-examining. Meanwhile, the committee staff is studying a secret file, three inches thick, on the army's handling of Communist war prisoners.

What Next in Korea—British and American intelligence disagree on whether the Communists intend to launch a new offensive in Korea. American agents admit the Communists have reinforced their ground and air forces, but they don't look for any new attack. On the other hand, the British definitely believe this buildup is the prelude to a new gigantic offensive timed with a breakdown in the Korean truce talks. This fear is the reason behind Prime Minister Churchill's statement to the House of Commons last week about the Communist buildup.

Behind the Curtain—U. S. observers in Rumania report two new divisions of Russian troops are about to move into Rumania as a follow-up to the purge of Ana Pauker. Thousands of Rumanians are building a huge base for them outside the town of Timisoara not far from the Yugoslav border. Ana Pauker is crushed by her demotion and can't understand what happened. The truth is that the Russian ambassador in Bucharest thought she was getting lazy and recommended she be purged. Ana tried to phone Stalin direct by telephone, in a grandstand effort to block the announcement, but the Kremlin operator told her Stalin wasn't in.

Concensus Is Truman Should Have Requested Legation, Not Ambassador to Vatican

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Rome, June 12 — Should the United States government be represented at the Vatican? This question has raised quite a debate in the United States, where it has become the subject of political as well as interdenominational controversy.

To get an objective view of the non-religious aspects of the dispute, this correspondent canvassed opinion among diplomats here, where the Vatican's moral force is centered. They did not wish to be quoted, because it might involve them in public controversy. Americans who have lived in Rome and are in no way connected with the church or the Vatican, but who have had special opportunities to watch European politics, also made clear certain points about the problem which are usually overlooked.

The consensus of those interviewed seems to be that it was a mistake for the President to ask Congress to send an ambassador to the Vatican but that he might properly have requested a legation, rather than an embassy, be created and that the official representative should be a minister. It turns out also that this would not have displeased the Vatican and that the latter does not in any way expect the Washington government to reciprocate by permitting a papal nuncio or minister to be accredited to the State Department. The Vatican would be content to retain in Washington its present apostolic delegate, who has no official status.

The principal argument for the opening of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the American government, as set forth by diplomats here, is that it would afford the United States an opportunity to do more for the furtherance of its reconstruction policies with the people in Europe than could be accomplished in almost any other single way. It is pointed out that economic aid to Europe will be made worth while if there is political and economic stability on this continent and that the Vatican could do a great deal to achieve such an objective.

"We would have a method," said one prominent American, "whereby the views of the United States could be formally presented to the Vatican. We have no such method now, and neither we nor the Vatican officials are exercising the influence that should be applied to re-building Europe because there is no satisfactory liaison between America and one of the most powerful systems of mass communication in Europe."

Another observer said that the moral force of the Vatican throughout Europe is not being effectively exerted in behalf of such measures as integration of the western allies, the Schuman Plan, and the Federation of European States.

Almost everybody with whom this correspondent talked said it was a big mistake for the diplomatic relationship to the Vatican to be urged on the basis that the Holy See is a "listening post" in Europe, which implies a sort of high-grade intelligence service One experienced diplomat said it is not what the Vatican listens to throughout Europe that is important but what the Vatican could do if it had a chance to listen officially to some of the many men who are directing economic aid throughout Europe, particularly in such countries as France, Germany and Italy, where there are millions of Catholics actively welded together in political parties with Catholic influence predominating.

There is another important point on which authoritative information was obtained here. Several members of Congress, for example, have asked why the diplomatic work needed to be done at the Vatican could't be accomplished for the United States by the personel of the American embassy in Rome. The answer given here is that the Vatican has never recognized the diplomats accredited to the Italian government as being also accredited to the Holy See and, that to mak an exception in any case would demolish the entire diplomatic structure of legations and embassies which the Vatican has had set up for many years, with ministers and ambassadors accredited exclusively to the Vatican.

The information obtainable here does not, of course, deal with the arguments of separation of church and state raised in America, but it is interesting to note that there is widespread agreement in Rome among American officials of experience that the late President Roosevelt was right in setting up a relationship between the United States government and the Vatican during the war—a relationship which, it now is argued, will be even more important in the next decade than it was during the war.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In his office at the headquarters of the allied powers outside Paris one day last winter, General Eisenhower said to me: "I withdrew one hundred miles from the Elbe river." He said he did this under orders and added that he did not believe in arguing over matters that were water over the dam. In other words, Ike did not want to thresh out the question whether he was guilty of an error which might be the cause of World War III and fatal to countless Americans and Europeans who are on our side against the Russians today. It might be fatal to the United States. This withdrawal was the error which pushed the Soviet Russian frontier far into western European Christendom to a line which today is known, in Winston Churchill's phrase, as the Iron Curtain. Actually, Ike pulled back much more than a hundred miles in some places.

The Americans had waited at the Elbe river, in eastern Germany, for the Russians to appear from the east. The Russians took plenty of time and the American and British troops could have rushed on, with their victorious elan, to take Berlin and Prague and the Danube valley. Instead, they tarried at the Elbe and then fell back to a line established by a hysterical fool, John G. Winant, Roosevelt's ambasador in London, in a meeting of a trio known as the European Advisory Commission, Winant later killed himself, possibly in remorse. He had been told that he looked like Lincoln. Joe Kingsbury Smith, the European manager of the International News Service, related that once during a conversation in London, Winant bawled and wept.

On my return from Europe last spring I looked up the retreat from the Elbe in Eisenhower's own war memoirs and found that there he said he had made the decision to withdraw on his own initiative and responsibility.

Some soldiers and some civilians worth quoting insist that if Eisenhower had his orders then he either had to obey or resign his command at the very hour of victory. Others insist that the least Ike should have done was to make a public protest so that the American people could know what Winant and Roosevelt and, finally Truman, were doing to abandon the fruits of the sacrifice of our fighting men and our nation at home and to jeopardize the future of the west. In that case, Ike would have registered a stroke of wisdom which today might commend him for the presidency.

But Eisenhower made absolutely no protest. He did not register the slightest disagreement. He explains that the decision was a political one, not military, and that politics is outside the authority of a soldier in the field. The British, on the other hand, encourage their soldiers to keep political situations in mind. It is a phase of their professional duty. And Marshal Montgomery certainly revealed such a line of thought when he kept clamoring for troops so that he could get up to the Baltic and seal off Denmark against the Russians, as he did in the nick of time. Still other American generals contend that a commander big enough to be considered seriously as a candidate for President should have rejected the demarcation which Winant had agreed to in the European advisory committee, and pushed ahead until he met the Russians head on and drew a deadline. This deadline would have been east of Berlin.

General Al Wedemeyer, who strongly, but vainly, insisted that we should push the Russian back into his own darkness, has blamed the tragedy in Europe on the the criminal or stupid confidence of the Roosevelt clique that, under the spell of Roosevelt's "charm," Stalin and the Russians would be nice. Wedemeyer said that if we

We did all that to keep out of a depression and they took the money to help us stay out of depression and war.

I am a very mild-mannered person, but when I am told to my face, as often happens, that if we stop giving our money, the entire world will unite against us, I am tempted to say, unite and be damned, because there is something impudent and intolerable in the attitude of these people who accept our bounty without shame, yet hate us for it. And they seem to admit that there is an emotional response in Europe against parvenu America that is so rich and powerful.

It is like an old relative who has seen better days and who must make a nuisance of herself to prove that what is done for her is her due and not the goodness of young hearts.

I was recently told that the backward nations are not responsible for their backwardness, but rather that they should be aided to become forward nations by American money dispensed by the United Nations.

When I asked why, if the United States pays for all this progress, should we not do the job ourselves, pasting an American label on it, they answer that that is not humane. It is colonialism. It should all be sheer charity, with no return intended or expected. Point Four is like that, but, according to beneficiaries, it ought to be done entirely by the United Nations so that nobody will have to be grateful to anybody.

When I listen to Park Avenue ladies talking gushingly that way, I do not feel much pain. They are a dying race among us. But when I hear the men who are reporting America to European nations talk that way, I realize that there is trouble in store for us when we have to tell these foreigners that we can give them no more subsidies, that it is none of our business to keep their politicians in power and that we despise their Socialism of whatever form.

It would do these people good if they traveled in this country and listened to what most Americans think of them and their gimmies.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PHYSICIAN, PATIENT, AND OURSELVES

I once accompanied a railroad surgeon as he visited each victim of a serious railroad wreck. Several people had been killed and some of the survivors were so seriously injured that they died within the next couple of days. I asked him how he would be able to sleep, knowing that some of these patients would die before his next visit.

His reply was characteristic. "I have been all over each patient carefully and have done all I can to ease their pain and save their lives. I have then gone over each case in turn in my mind and asked myself if there was anything more I could do. I am satisfied in my mind that I have done everything possible, my mind is at rest for this reason and so I'll be able to sleep."

I am reminded of this incident in reading an article in Medical Clinics of North America by Dr. Leroy H. Sloan, clinical professor of medicine, University of Illinois College of Medicine, in which he quoted Sir William Osler at a farewell banquet before he left for Oxford as stating, "I have three personal ideals. One, to do the day's work well and not bother about tomorrow. The second ideal has been to act the Golden Rule as far as in me lay toward my professional brethren and towards the patients committed to my care. And the third has been to cultivate such a measure of equanimity as would enable me to bear success with humility, the affection of my friends without pride, and to be ready when the day of sorrow and grief came to meet it with courage befitting a man."

While Dr. Sloan is writing to physicians and patients, I believe we can all try our best to make these ideals of Osler a part of our own daily life. If we, as the day is over, can feel that we have done an honest day's work, as far as were able with our knowledge and ability, we should all be able to obtain natural sleep. As a matter of fact, it is the little and occasionally the large affairs in our daily lives in which we show indecision and neglect that come to us during the night and interfere with sleep.

Osler's doing a good day's work and following the Golden Rule prepare one for serenity of mind and natural sleep or rest.

To the Reds It Looks Like Nothing but a Challenge

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — President Truman wrote another personal letter the other day, this one to Amon Carter, No. 1 citizen of Fort Worth, Tex. However, he didn't mail it—at least, not the original draft.

He slept on it, finally tore the original draft up.

But the inside fact is that when the President sounded off on tidelands oil at the Americans for Democratic Action dinner two weeks ago, a letter from Amon Carter was the cause of it.

Carter, famed for his efforts to keep the City of Fort Worth ahead of its rival Dallas, also famous for handing a ten-gallon hat to every prominent visitor, happens to be on friendly terms with President Truman. The President likes and respects him.

However, just as the Tidelands Oil Bill was passed by Congress and sent to the White House, Carter wrote the President a letter arguing that the school children of Texas would be robbed of oil royalties if the bill were vetoed.

It was at this point that the President drafted a hot reply to Amon, then thought better of it, consulted with aides, and tore his letter up. Instead, he made a speech before the ADA, calling the Tidelands Oil Bill "robbery in broad daylight."

Ferguson's Junket

Michigan's ever-angry Senator Homer Ferguson was full of righteous wrath the other day against government-paid junkets for newspapermen. But when his own globe-trotting at the taxpayers' expense came under fire, he managed to censor the objectionable information out of the public record.

With a commendable regard for economy, Ferguson vigorously lashed out against the policy of some government agencies to furnish free transportation for newsmen. This led Texas' caustic Sen. Tom Connally to remark: "The senator from Michigan (Ferguson) was flying all over the Far East in a government airplane. I am sure that I heard no objections to that."

"It was not in a government airplane," sputtered Ferguson.

"It might not have been a government airplane, but I am sure it was at the government's expense," drawled Connally.

"The senator from Rhode Island, Mr. Green, was along, too," was Ferguson's only defense.

It is the privilege of a senator, in case he sticks his foot in his mouth, to edit and alter his remarks on the Senate floor before the official record is published. With Connally's later consent, Ferguson took advantage of this privilege to keep the public from reading about his travels. But this column obtained a copy of the expurgated remarks, in case the public might be interested in reading what Ferguson didn't want them to read.

Kefauver and Truman

The personal talk with President Truman and Senator Kefauver last week was pleasant but inconclusive.

Kefauver told Truman that he had come to report on the state of the Democratic party around the country, and they talked for about 20 minutes on party matters with the President asking about various local leaders. His memory for names was remarkable.

Kefauver then said he hoped the President would take no part in the prenomination fight, and Truman promised that he would not. He added that he hoped the race "would leave no scars that would not be healed after the convention." Kefauver replied that, as far as he was concerned, there would be no scars.

The President then talked about his veto of the Tidelands Oil Bill, and Kefauver promised to uphold the veto when it comes up in the Senate. The visit was polite, friendly, and that's all.

Capital News Capsules

Maine Primary—Senator Brewster of Maine rushed back to Washington in the middle of his campaign last week to try to stop an investigation of himself. The Senate Elections Committee had sent an investigator to Maine to check on testimony that Brewster offered $25,000 to a liquor dealer in order to influence his opponent, Governor Payne. Brewster was furious when he learned about the investigation. He caught the first plane back to the Senate and slipped around to see the committee members. The Spanish government's hired lobbyist, Charles Patrick Clark, also got busy lobbying, trying to persuade the committee to call off the dogs.

Navy Politics—Secretary of the Navy Kimball again defied his boss, Secretary of Defense Lovett, by sounding off on supercarriers recently. Last January Kimball got in hot water with Lovett by calling for 10 supercarriers. At a closed-door meeting with businessmen not long ago, Kimball not only repeated his demand, but said he hadn't asked for enough supercarriers—the number should be doubled.

Southern Delegates—The Taft forces pulled another raw deal recently that didn't get into the papers. In Birmingham, Curtis Adkins, for Taft, and Claude Vardeman, for Eisenhower, shook hands on a deal in the Tutweiler Hotel in Birmingham, to split Alabama's delegates at large—two for Taft and two for Ike. But, after making the bargin Adkins double-crossed the Eisenhower forces and rammed through three delegates for Taft.

Koje Island Punishment—The Senate Armed Services Committee is not satisfied with the light punishment given to the Koje Island generals. At a closed-door meeting, committee members agreed that Generals Francis Dodd and Charles Colson got off too easy when they were busted to colonels. They also agreed to call all the principals in the Koje Island fiasco back to the states for stiff cross-examining. Meanwhile, the committee staff is studying a secret file, three inches thick, on the army's handling of Communist war prisoners.

What Next in Korea—British and American intelligence disagree on whether the Communists intend to launch a new offensive in Korea. American agents admit the Communists have reinforced their ground and air forces, but they don't look for any new attack. On the other hand, the British definitely believe this buildup is the prelude to a new gigantic offensive timed with a breakdown in the Korean truce talks. This fear is the reason behind Prime Minister Churchill's statement to the House of Commons last week about the Communist buildup.

Behind the Curtain—U. S. observers in Rumania report two new divisions of Russian troops are about to move into Rumania as a follow-up to the purge of Ana Pauker. Thousands of Rumanians are building a huge base for them outside the town of Timisoara not far from the Yugoslav border. Ana Pauker is crushed by her demotion and can't understand what happened. The truth is that the Russian ambassador in Bucharest thought she was getting lazy and recommended she be purged. Ana tried to phone Stalin direct by telephone, in a grandstand effort to block the announcement, but the Kremlin operator told her Stalin wasn't in.

Concensus Is Truman Should Have Requested Legation, Not Ambassador to Vatican

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Rome, June 12 — Should the United States government be represented at the Vatican? This question has raised quite a debate in the United States, where it has become the subject of political as well as interdenominational controversy.

To get an objective view of the non-religious aspects of the dispute, this correspondent canvassed opinion among diplomats here, where the Vatican's moral force is centered. They did not wish to be quoted, because it might involve them in public controversy. Americans who have lived in Rome and are in no way connected with the church or the Vatican, but who have had special opportunities to watch European politics, also made clear certain points about the problem which are usually overlooked.

The consensus of those interviewed seems to be that it was a mistake for the President to ask Congress to send an ambassador to the Vatican but that he might properly have requested a legation, rather than an embassy, be created and that the official representative should be a minister. It turns out also that this would not have displeased the Vatican and that the latter does not in any way expect the Washington government to reciprocate by permitting a papal nuncio or minister to be accredited to the State Department. The Vatican would be content to retain in Washington its present apostolic delegate, who has no official status.

The principal argument for the opening of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the American government, as set forth by diplomats here, is that it would afford the United States an opportunity to do more for the furtherance of its reconstruction policies with the people in Europe than could be accomplished in almost any other single way. It is pointed out that economic aid to Europe will be made worth while if there is political and economic stability on this continent and that the Vatican could do a great deal to achieve such an objective.

"We would have a method," said one prominent American, "whereby the views of the United States could be formally presented to the Vatican. We have no such method now, and neither we nor the Vatican officials are exercising the influence that should be applied to re-building Europe because there is no satisfactory liaison between America and one of the most powerful systems of mass communication in Europe."

Another observer said that the moral force of the Vatican throughout Europe is not being effectively exerted in behalf of such measures as integration of the western allies, the Schuman Plan, and the Federation of European States.

Almost everybody with whom this correspondent talked said it was a big mistake for the diplomatic relationship to the Vatican to be urged on the basis that the Holy See is a "listening post" in Europe, which implies a sort of high-grade intelligence service One experienced diplomat said it is not what the Vatican listens to throughout Europe that is important but what the Vatican could do if it had a chance to listen officially to some of the many men who are directing economic aid throughout Europe, particularly in such countries as France, Germany and Italy, where there are millions of Catholics actively welded together in political parties with Catholic influence predominating.

There is another important point on which authoritative information was obtained here. Several members of Congress, for example, have asked why the diplomatic work needed to be done at the Vatican could't be accomplished for the United States by the personel of the American embassy in Rome. The answer given here is that the Vatican has never recognized the diplomats accredited to the Italian government as being also accredited to the Holy See and that to make an exception in any case would demolish the entire diplomatic structure of legations and embassies which the Vatican has had set up for many years, with ministers and ambassadors accredited exclusively to the Vatican.

The information obtainable here does not, of course, deal with the arguments of separation of church and state raised in America, but it is interesting to note that there is widespread agreement in Rome among American officials of experience that the late President Roosevelt was right in setting up a relationship between the United States government and the Vatican during the war—a relationship which, it now is argued, will be even more important in the next decade than it was during the war.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In his office at the headquarters of the allied powers outside Paris one day last winter, General Eisenhower said to me: "I withdrew one hundred miles from the Elbe river." He said he did this under orders and added that he did not believe in arguing over matters that were water over the dam. In other words, Ike did not want to thresh out the question whether he was guilty of an error which might be the cause of World War III and fatal to countless Americans and Europeans who are on our side against the Russians today. It might be fatal to the United States. This withdrawal was the error which pushed the Soviet Russian frontier far into western European Christendom to a line which today is known, in Winston Churchill's phrase, as the Iron Curtain. Actually, Ike pulled back much more than a hundred miles in some places.

The Americans had waited at the Elbe river, in eastern Germany, for the Russians to appear from the east. The Russians took plenty of time and the American and British troops could have rushed on, with their victorious elan, to take Berlin and Prague and the Danube valley. Instead, they tarried at the Elbe and then fell back to a line established by a hysterical fool, John G. Winant, Roosevelt's ambasador in London, in a meeting of a trio known as the European Advisory Commission, Winant later killed himself, possibly in remorse. He had been told that he looked like Lincoln. Joe Kingsbury Smith, the European manager of the International News Service, related that once during a conversation in London, Winant bawled and wept.

On my return from Europe last spring I looked up the retreat from the Elbe in Eisenhower's own war memoirs and found that there he said he had made the decision to withdraw on his own initiative and responsibility.

Some soldiers and some civilians worth quoting insist that if Eisenhower had his orders then he either had to obey or resign his command at the very hour of victory. Others insist that the least Ike should have done was to make a public protest so that the American people could know what Winant and Roosevelt and, finally Truman, were doing to abandon the fruits of the sacrifice of our fighting men and our nation at home and to jeopardize the future of the west. In that case, Ike would have registered a stroke of wisdom which today might commend him for the presidency.

But Eisenhower made absolutely no protest. He did not register the slightest disagreement. He explains that the decision was a political one, not military, and that politics is outside the authority of a soldier in the field. The British, on the other hand, encourage their soldiers to keep political situations in mind. It is a phase of their professional duty. And Marshal Montgomery certainly revealed such a line of thought when he kept clamoring for troops so that he could get up to the Baltic and seal off Denmark against the Russians, as he did in the nick of time. Still other American generals contend that a commander big enough to be considered seriously as a candidate for President should have rejected the demarcation which Winant had agreed to in the European advisory committee, and pushed ahead until he met the Russians head on and drew a deadline. This deadline would have been east of Berlin.

General Al Wedemeyer, who strongly, but vainly, insisted that we should push the Russian back into his own darkness, has blamed the tragedy in Europe on the the criminal or stupid confidence of the Roosevelt clique that, under the spell of Roosevelt's "charm," Stalin and the Russians would be nice. Wedemeyer said that if we

Pre-School Clinic Slated June 17th

A child health conference for infants and preschool children will be held at the clinic rooms in the Municipal Building at 24 East O'Reilly street on Tuesday, June 17, from 2 to 4 p. m. The clinic will be under the auspices of the Ulster County Health Department.

These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction to parents in understanding growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administration of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

These clinics are for well children designed for maintenance of health and prevention of disease, not for care of sick children. Children under regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the Child Health Conference. In this manner duplication of service is avoided, facilitating the work of the private physician.

VA Will Be Cautious

Washington, June 11 (AP)—The Veterans Administration has decided to be wary in approving home loans for veterans within four miles of an airport. The final decision will be up to headquarters in Washington, the VA said in directing its field offices yesterday to forward all pertinent data on such loan applications. A VA spokesman said a series of crashes near the Newark, N. J., airport had brought a fall in land and homes values near airports throughout the nation. The spokesman indicated that funneling of all such applications was merely a temporary measure while a national policy is being devised. The VA, he added, is working out a policy in line with the government's airport safety program.

As Pegler Sees It

had kept on going with the impetus we had, we could have pushed the frontier of western Christendom as far as the old Russo-Polish frontier and probably could have saved the Balkans. At any rate, we could have occupied Germany and spared ourselves the malicious harassments which the Russians have inflicted on us. And, to the best of our ability, we could have established a new Germany.

Eisenhower knew Winant well. That being so, he must have known that Winant was an ass and a fool so gullible that it was a terrible betrayal of the interests of the American people to permit him to make a decision on the post-war borders of the defeated German nation.

It is not easy to come by a clear, honest statement of this ghastly case. General George Marshall's memoirs, done in the form of a third-person biography, absolutely ignore both Winant and the European Advisory Committee. It is necessary to comb many memory books and analyze cautious admissions, many of them cagey lest a plea of guilt be read into them.

Marshall takes no responsibility in this book for the extension of the Soviet frontier to a point far west of the furthermost Russian ambitions of the old days. But he does take pleasure in recounting his arrogant, vindictive dismissal of the greatest American soldier, Douglas MacArthur, from his command in Japan.

With gusto he reprints his rude order: "You will turn over your commands, effective at once, to Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. You are authorized to have issued such orders as are necessary to complete desired travel to such place as you select."

Whereas Eisenhower, closing his mind to political disasters, pulled back and let the Russians absorb a vast area of western civilization, MacArthur, in Japan, firmly kept the same enemy at a distance. MacArthur knew the Russian was our enemy. Eisenhower pretended to have no opinion, and to have no legitimate official concern as to the future attitude of the Soviets. This was his stand in spite of the fact that he clearly knew that Stalin already had refused to exchange military information and had even refused until the last minute to let crippled American planes come down in Russia after they had bombed Berlin, the capital of his mortal enemy. It is not so stated but it stands to reason that some of these disabled bombers with their crews of American youth crashed in hostile country or into the sea.

Flavorful Potato Substitutes

With potatoes at a premium, why not turn to macaroni and spaghetti? Tempting, tender macaroni in cream sauce with cheese and spaghetti with tomato sauce and cheese make adequate substitutes. As sources of carbohydrates, they closely rival the coveted potato.

Of course, to save time and to guarantee tops in flavor and texture, you'll want to serve canned macaroni and spaghetti. A 15¼ ounce can of either will make a satisfying sidedish for four.

Both products can be heated and served just as they come from the container; but for variety, try baking spaghetti in a casserole. Top it with rings of green pepper or slices of partially cooked bacon before popping it into the oven.

Macaroni is luscious when baked in a casserole with fresh tomatoes.

New Paltz Soldier

the actions of his client around the time of the slaying were those of an innocent man. He claimed Williams went to New Paltz, then returned to Fort Dix, and then went back to New Paltz where he was arrested.

Unaware of Ownership

Katzenbach also said Williams was told by another sergeant to use the car which belonged to Weiner. The attorney claimed Williams was unaware of the true ownership of the car.

Rounds called six witnesses after the opening remarks by both the government and the defense. All six witnesses, including Williams' commanding officer at Fort Dix, were presented to identify the defendant and testify as to both his and Weiner's known activities on the day of the killing. Rounds said Weiner was slain on Sunday, Feb. 3.

The Federal Court has jurisdiction in the case because Weiner's death took place on a government reservation.

Nehru Takes 'Shots'

New Delhi, India, June 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru took pot shots today at the United Nations, the Atlantic pact and the Communists as he defended before Parliament his policy of neutrality. Nehru said India's policy of avoiding alliances had proved correct, and "we will continue it." Parliament backed him up by approving foreign ministry expenditures of 56 million ruppees (12 million dollars). A Communist-led motion for cuts was defeated 296-72.

Show No Symptoms

Chicago, June 12 (AP)—Four atomic scientists accidentally exposed to excessive radiation at the Argonne National Laboratory June 2 have shown no symptoms of radiation sickness and may be released from a hospital in the near future. Physicians said, however, that the scientists would remain under periodic observation for an indefinite period.

Troops Seek Reds

away plainly feared death at the hands of their Red leaders. Others who tried to escape were dragged by the Communists into Compound 91, their new, temporary enclosure.

"Now we will live," one grateful North Korean soldier sighed after he had safely fled the marching Reds.

The anti-Red POWs broke away in groups of up to 100 men. They tore off their Red star-decorated hats, trampled them in the dust and awaited the arrival of guards.

The evacuation started with exchange of salutes and handshakes between the leader of the compound and General Boatner. Intelligence officers found the Reds' documents burned. They surmised word of the transfer had come through the prison "grapevine."

The 4,800 Reds were herded temporarily into Compound 91, where unarmed guards moved freely among them.

Rosendale Pilot

Ridge. It was learned today that he had qualified for a position as pilot with the Pan American Airways and expected shortly to begin employment with that company on trans-oceanic flights.

Although not recalled to active duty, Duffy, as a reserve pilot, was required to complete a certain number of flight hours a month for the reserve, and it was on one of those flights that he crashed on Wednesday.

A member of St. Peter's Church of Rosendale and of its Holy Name Society, he also belonged to the Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus, and Rosendale-Tillson Post 1219, American Legion.

In addition to his parents, wife and child, he is survived by three brothers, Capt. Francis X. Duffy, U. S. Air Force; John J. Duffy Jr., and Eugene E. Duffy, and by a sister, Mrs. Herman Walsh.

The funeral will be held from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, at a time to be announced.

Rotarians Hold Napanoch Meeting

One of the most unique and interesting Rotary Club meetings of the year was held Wednesday at the Institute for Male Defective Delinquents at Napanoch. The Rotarians were guests of Superintendent Major Thomas J. Hanlon.

The local service club members were met at the entrance by the major and a corps of officers and were escorted to the auditorium of the institution, where an address of welcome, which included a prayer, was given by a young inmate, who when admitted to the institution couldn't read or write.

Following the address of welcome the inmates gave a band concert and a choral group sang a number of songs. The entertainment also included selections by an orchestra and a hill-billy band and dance numbers.

After luncheon, a tour was conducted through the various industrial departments. Here men were learning trades to fit them for gainful employment when released. The departments visited included woodworking, tin and metal shops and a laundry. Health and educational facilities also were inspected.

The cordiality by both inmates and officials and the enthusiasm in which the inmates demonstrated their skills was impressive.

The improved methods in the administration of a modern penal institution, which emphasizes, through an educational approach, fitting the inmates to become useful citizens, was favorably commented upon by the Rotarians.

A dress parade on the parade grounds concluded the afternoon's program.

Permission Is Granted

New York, June 12 (AP)—State Motor Vehicle Commissioner James R. Macduff has granted permission to affix the city's new auto-use tax stamps to windshields. Such windshield display of stickers is prohibited by state law, without permission of the commissioner. The $5 and $10 annual tax becomes effective next Monday midnight, and city officials became alert to the windshield ban only a few days ago. Macduff received a written request from the city, and granted authorization yesterday.

Radio Strike Averted

New York, June 12 (AP)—A strike by the Radio and Television Directors Guild, (AFL), which was threatened for this morning, was averted when an agreement was reached between the Guild and the major broadcasting companies last night, a union spokesman announced. Members of the Guild voted last night to accept an agreement with the NBC, ABC, CBS and Dumont networks.

As Pegler Sees It

had kept on going with the impetus we had, we could have pushed the frontier of western Christendom as far as the old Russo-Polish frontier and probably could have saved the Balkans. At any rate, we could have occupied Germany and spared ourselves the malicious harassments which the Russians have inflicted on us. And, to the best of our ability, we could have established a new Germany.

Eisenhower knew Winant well. That being so, he must have known that Winant was an ass and a fool so gullible that it was a terrible betrayal of the interests of the American people to permit him to make a decision on the post-war borders of the defeated German nation.

It is not easy to come by a clear, honest statement of this ghastly case. General George Marshall's memoirs, done in the form of a third-person biography, absolutely ignore both Winant and the European Advisory Committee. It is necessary to comb many memory books and analyze cautious admissions, many of them cagey lest a plea of guilt be read into them.

Marshall takes no responsibility in this book for the extension of the Soviet frontier to a point far west of the furthermost Russian ambitions of the old days. But he does take pleasure in recounting his arrogant, vindictive dismissal of the greatest American soldier, Douglas MacArthur, from his command in Japan.

With gusto he reprints his rude order: "You will turn over your commands, effective at once, to Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. You are authorized to have issued such orders as are necessary to complete desired travel to such place as you select."

Whereas Eisenhower, closing his mind to political disasters, pulled back and let the Russians absorb a vast area of western civilization, MacArthur, in Japan, firmly kept the same enemy at a distance. MacArthur knew the Russian was our enemy. Eisenhower pretended to have no opinion, and to have no legitimate official concern as to the future attitude of the Soviets. This was his stand in spite of the fact that he clearly knew that Stalin already had refused to exchange military information and had even refused until the last minute to let crippled American planes come down in Russia after they had bombed Berlin, the capital of his mortal enemy. It is not so stated but it stands to reason that some of these disabled bombers with their crews of American youth crashed in hostile country or into the sea.

Flavorful Potato Substitutes

With potatoes at a premium, why not turn to macaroni and spaghetti? Tempting, tender macaroni in cream sauce with cheese and spaghetti with tomato sauce and cheese make adequate substitutes. As sources of carbohydrates, they closely rival the coveted potato.

Of course, to save time and to guarantee tops in flavor and texture, you'll want to serve canned macaroni and spaghetti. A 15½ ounce can of either will make a satisfying sidedish for four.

Both products can be heated and served just as they come from the container; but for variety, try baking spaghetti in a casserole. Top it with rings of green pepper or slices of partially cooked bacon before popping it into the oven.

Macaroni is luscious when baked in a casserole with fresh tomatoes.

New Paltz Soldier

the actions of his client around the time of the slaying were those of an innocent man. He claimed Williams went to New Paltz, then returned to Fort Dix, and then went back to New Paltz where he was arrested.

Unaware of Ownership

Katzenbach also said Williams was told by another sergeant to use the car which belonged to Weiner. The attorney claimed Williams was unaware of the true ownership of the car.

Rounds called six witnesses after the opening remarks by both the government and the defense. All six witnesses, including Williams' commanding officer at Fort Dix, were presented to identify the defendant and testify as to both his and Weiner's known activities on the day of the killing. Rounds said Weiner was slain on Sunday, Feb. 3.

The Federal Court has jurisdiction in the case because Weiner's death took place on a government reservation.

Nehru Takes 'Shots'

New Delhi, India, June 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru took pot shots today at the United Nations, the Atlantic pact and the Communists as he defended before Parliament his policy of neutrality. Nehru said India's policy of avoiding alliances had proved correct, and "we will continue it." Parliament backed him up by approving foreign ministry expenditures of 56 million ruppees (12 million dollars). A Communist-led motion for cuts was defeated 296-72.

Show No Symptoms

Chicago, June 12 (AP)—Four atomic scientists accidentally exposed to excessive radiation at the Argonne National Laboratory June 2 have shown no symptoms of radiation sickness and may be released from a hospital in the near future. Physicians said, however, that the scientists would remain under periodic observation for an indefinite period.

Troops Seek Reds

away plainly feared death at the hands of their Red leaders. Others who tried to escape were dragged by the Communists into Compound 91, their new, temporary enclosure.

"Now we will live," one grateful North Korean soldier sighed after he had safely fled the marching Reds.

The anti-Red POWs broke away in groups of up to 100 men. They tore off their Red star-decorated hats, trampled them in the dust and awaited the arrival of guards.

The evacuation started with exchange of salutes and handshakes between the leader of the compound and General Boatner. Intelligence officers found the Reds' documents burned. They surmised word of the transfer had come through the prison "grapevine."

The 4,800 Reds were herded temporarily into Compound 91, where unarmed guards moved freely among them.

Rosendale Pilot

Ridge. It was learned today that he had qualified for a position as pilot with the Pan American Airways and expected shortly to begin employment with that company on trans-oceanic flights.

Although not recalled to active duty, Duffy, as a reserve pilot, was required to complete a certain number of flight hours a month for the reserve, and it was on one of those flights that he crashed on Wednesday.

A member of St. Peter's Church of Rosendale and of its Holy Name Society, he also belonged to the Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus, and Rosendale-Tillson Post 1219, American Legion.

In addition to his parents, wife and child, he is survived by three brothers, Capt. Francis X. Duffy, U. S. Air Force; John J. Duffy Jr., and Eugene E. Duffy, and by a sister, Mrs. Herman Walsh.

The funeral will be held from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, at a time to be announced.

Rotarians Hold Napanoch Meeting

One of the most unique and interesting Rotary Club meetings of the year was held Wednesday at the Institute for Male Defective Delinquents at Napanoch. The Rotarians were guests of Superintendent Major Thomas J. Hanlon.

The local service club members were met at the entrance by the major and a corps of officers and were escorted to the auditorium of the institution, where an address of welcome, which included a prayer, was given by a young inmate, who when admitted to the institution couldn't read or write.

Following the address of welcome the inmates gave a band concert and a choral group sang a number of songs. The entertainment also included selections by an orchestra and a hill-billy band and dance numbers.

After luncheon, a tour was conducted through the various industrial departments. Here men were learning trades to fit them for gainful employment when released. The departments visited included woodworking, tin and metal shops and a laundry. Health and educational facilities also were inspected.

The cordiality by both inmates and officials and the enthusiasm in which the inmates demonstrated their skills was impressive.

The improved methods in the administration of a modern penal institution, which emphasizes, through an educational approach, fitting the inmates to become useful citizens, was favorably commented upon by the Rotarians.

A dress parade on the parade grounds concluded the afternoon's program.

Permission Is Granted

New York, June 12 (AP)—State Motor Vehicle Commissioner James R. Macduff has granted permission to affix the city's new auto-use tax stamps to windshields. Such windshield display of stickers is prohibited by state law, without permission of the commissioner. The $5 and $10 annual tax becomes effective next Monday midnight, and city officials became alert to the windshield ban only a few days ago. Macduff received a written request from the city, and granted authorization yesterday.

Radio Strike Averted

New York, June 12 (AP)—A strike by the Radio and Television Directors Guild, (AFL), which was threatened for this morning, was averted when an agreement was reached between the Guild and the major broadcasting companies last night, a union spokesman announced. Members of the Guild voted last night to accept an agreement with the NBC, ABC, CBS and Dumont networks.

Most of the late Will Rogers' cracks were rather kindly ones, but when the stimulation was great enough he could turn that barbed wit into a scathing remark. At one time, when he was farming, a neighbor depreciatingly said, "Sayah, Will, yer co'n crop looks mighty yellah!"

Rogers eyed the man. "So it does, I planted yellow corn."

The neighbor didn't like Will's answer. "Not very far from a fool, ar yuh?" he sneered.

Voice Is Banned As Insulting to Rhee Government

Pusan, Korea, June 12 (AP)—The South Korean government has banned Voice of America broadcasts over the 10-station government network, accusing it of "bitterly anti-government" and "obviously insulting" remarks.

The Voice has included in its three daily broadcasts editorial excerpts from many U. S. and other foreign newspapers attacking President Syngman Rhee and scoring recent political developments here.

The U. S. State Department Broadcasting Agency has been using the South Korean government network for two years as a courtesy and not on a contract, said Dr. Clarence Ryee, director of the government's office of public information.

"However much we may question the taste and judgment of the persons responsible for such broadcasts," Ryee told newsmen, "we do not dispute the airing of such opinions under other auspices."

A U. S. embassy official confirmed that the Voice broadcasts were suspended last night. He said no protest was planned here; that if any were made it would have to come from Washington.

Ryee said the use of the government network would be restored to the Voice "at once" if the Korean government is assured that the agency would not use the facilities "improperly."

Editorials carried on the Voice programs had criticized President Rhee for declaring martial law May 25 and for ignoring demands of the National Assembly and United Nations representatives here to lift it.

Injunction Granted

New York, June 12 (AP)—Federal Judge Leo F. Rayfiel granted a temporary injunction yesterday against enforcement of an ordinance of the village of Cedarhurst banning low-flying planes. Rayfiel will hold another hearing in Brooklyn next Thursday. The novel ordinance had been scheduled to become effective next Sunday. The hearing will be on constitutionality of the ordinance enacted March 31 by the trustees of the Nassau county village, on the edge of Queens. The temporary stay affects planes using Idlewild Airport, Queens.

Voice Is Banned As Insulting to Rhee Government

Pusan, Korea, June 12 (AP)—The South Korean government has banned Voice of America broadcasts over the 10-station government network, accusing it of "bitterly anti-government" and "obviously insulting" remarks.

The Voice has included in its three daily broadcasts editorial excerpts from many U. S. and other foreign newspapers attacking President Syngman Rhee and scoring recent political developments here.

The U. S. State Department Broadcasting Agency has been using the South Korean government network for two years as a courtesy and not on a contract, said Dr. Clarence Ryee, director of the government's office of public information.

"However much we may question the taste and judgment of the persons responsible for such broadcasts," Ryee told newsmen, "we do not dispute the airing of such opinions under other auspices."

A U. S. embassy official confirmed that the Voice broadcasts were suspended last night. He said no protest was planned here; that if any were made it would have to come from Washington.

Ryee said the use of the government network would be restored to the Voice "at once" if the Korean government is assured that the agency would not use the facilities "improperly."

Editorials carried on the Voice programs had criticized President Rhee for declaring martial law May 25 and for ignoring demands of the National Assembly and United Nations representatives here to litt it.

The hearing will be on constitutionality of the ordinance enacted March 31 by the trustees of the Nassau county village, on the edge of Queens. The temporary stay affects planes using Idlewild Airport, Queens.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In writing about Brooklyn (Flatbush) 300th Celebration coming at the same time as ours, I thought I might hear from a Brooklynite. Mrs. A. Marz of R. 1, Box 331, Flatbush Road of Kingston, N. Y. wrote: "I enjoyed reading your write up about Flatbush, Brooklyn. I lived there and three of my children were born there. I know of the places you mention." She mentioned that she moved from Flatbush, Brooklyn, to Flatbush Rd. Kingston and has lived here for about 30 years and likes it very much.

From time to time when I walked down Broadway in Rondout I would stop in to chat with Dr. Sam Stern about old times. Sometimes he would show me old pictures and newspapers and sometimes I would leave old books with him to look over. The Mann family, Stern's cousins, just sent me over some interesting newspapers, from his collection one of which I have never seen before. It is called "The Kingston Observer." It is dated December 24, 1910. Vol 1—No. 14 price 3 cents. On both sides of the heading is boxed the following: "All the News..but..No Scandal." I take it was around the time of the famous "Square Dealer" and this paper wanted to be different. It is printed on glossy paper and is in excellent condition with fine photographs just like in a good book. It was published on Fair street. J. H. Fitzgerald was president, M. Diamond, treasurer; W. L. Herwig, secretary and Frank M. Boyce, Jr., managing editor. No doubt the old timers know this paper and most of the portraits. There is one of Senator William P. Fiero. Another of George Washburn, member of the Assembly.

The advs. too are something as this was a Christmas number, published December 24.. The Up-to-date cloak Manufacturing Co. of 303 and 305 Wall street were having their "Greatest 10-Day-Sale." The coats shown were long to the ankle and wide, and the hats were decorated with plumes. I would say such a coat would take perhaps six or seven yards of good woolen material and inner lining, besides yards of trimming and good substantial buttons. At the time you could buy one of those tailored suits for $6.69 and up. They also had holiday shirtwaists, children's coats, holiday silk petticoats and women's Caracul coats.

Byrne Brothers advertised their granite and marble monuments at Broadway and Henry streets, and now they are moving for the first time and the crossing is a reality. The Rondout National Bank at 42 Ferry street and 22 E. Strand advertised a safe deposit box for $3 per year. At the time, P. A. Canfield was president, Howard Chipp was vice-president and A. W. Thompson, cashier. Now they too are moving and will have the latest, a drive-in service.

At the Old Kingston Opera House on Monday night, December 26 "Paid in Full" was the special Christmas production. The "Family Hotel" at 180 Albany avenue advertised "light airy rooms and excellent table also rooms with and without board." The "Citizens Standard Telephone" had an advertisement in which it said in part "You can talk to more than 500 cities and towns from your home." Who remembers the old "Star Theatre" where you paid only 10 cents and could see "refined vaudeville and moving pictures?" A. Levin was the owner and C. D. Davis, manager.

L. Herwig, secretary and Frank M. Boyce, Jr., managing editor. No doubt the old timers know this paper and most of the portraits. There is one of Senator William P. Fiero. Another of George Washburn, member of the Assembly.

The advs. too are something as this was a Christmas number, published December 24.. The Up-to-date cloak Manufacturing Co. of 303 and 305 Wall street were having their "Greatest 10-Day-Sale." The coats shown were long to the ankle and wide, and the hats were decorated with plumes. I would say such a coat would take perhaps six or seven yards of good woolen material and inner lining, besides yards of trimming and good substantial buttons. At the time you could buy one of those tailored suits for $6.69 and up. They also had holiday shirtwaists, children's coats, holiday silk petticoats and women's Caracul coats.

Byrne Brothers advertised their granite and marble monuments at Broadway and Henry streets, and now they are moving for the first time and the crossing is a reality. The Rondout National Bank at 42 Ferry street and 22 E. Strand advertised a safe deposit box for $3 per year. At the time, P. A. Canfield was president, Howard Chipp was vice-president and A. W. Thompson, cashier. Now they too are moving and will have the latest, a drive-in service.

At the Old Kingston Opera House on Monday night, December 26 "Paid in Full" was the special Christmas production. The "Family Hotel" at 180 Albany avenue advertised "light airy rooms and excellent table also rooms with and without board." The "Citizens Standard Telephone" had an advertisement in which it said in part "You can talk to more than 500 cities and towns from your home." Who remembers the old "Star Theatre" where you paid only 10 cents and could see "refined vaudeville and moving pictures?" A. Levin was the owner and C. D. Davis, manager.

Consumer Incomes Gain

Washington, June 11 (AP)—Consumer incomes moved up to a record high in April, the Commerce Department reported today. But the amount of money earned in wages fell below the totals of the previous month. Overall incomes jumped 700 million dollars over March, achieving an annual rate of $258,900,000,000. Department figures are not adjusted month-to-month basis but on an annual basis, with seasonal rises and declines taken into consideration. The figures measure total income of individuals from a number of sources, such as wages and salaries, pension payments, rentals and dividends and interest on stocks and bonds.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Frying chickens and eggs cost a little more in most food stores this week. Potatoes, though much more plentiful, held close to the higher price levels reached last week-end after their price ceilings were suspended.

Many fresh vegetables were lower in markets receiving sharply increased supplies from nearby truck gardens enjoying favorably warm growing weather. Citrus fruits, plums and cherries were mostly higher.

Frying chickens (with cranberry sauce were adopted this year as the "official main dish" for Father's Day dinner this Sunday by the National Father's Day Committee.

Fryer Prices Are Up

But fryer prices in most sections were up 2 to as much as 7 cents a pound over last week-end. Poultry buyers for leading store chains said demand for the lightweight chickens has been good and that supplies had been further reduced because recent low prices had led producers to trim production. Larger chickens—five pounds and over—were reported unusually plentiful and lower-priced this week.

Beef, pork and lamb prices showed little overall change.

The 1 to 2 cents a dozen advance in large eggs was attributed to warmer weather, which increases the difficulty of maintaining top egg quality and results in seasonally lower production.

Potato Prices Soar

Potato prices soared as much as 50 per cent in many retail markets after the ceilings were lifted, and wholesale quotations were at 29-year highs in some cities.

The situation was spotty, however. A few stores even held the retail price line at the old ceilings and said they would try to continue doing so until wholesale prices drop, as a feature to attract customers. Others said they would hold their potato buying to a minimum until prices returned to what their customers consider reasonable levels—and advised consumers to do likewise.

Short Upsurge Expected

Produce authorities at both the shipper and retailer level predicted that the price upsurge would be short-lived. They said heavy shipments were en route from California, the Carolinas, Virginia and elsewhere and that any shortages that still remained this week could be traced to the time lag in shipping to terminal markets. Most said they expected potatoes to be so plentiful by the middle of next week that prices all along the line would drop back close to the old ceiling levels—or lower.

"The legitimate potato traders are back in the market now and the impact of their big-scale operations will be felt generally next week," said one of the biggest shippers, Fred H. Vahlsing, Jr. "We don't expect a sharp price break, but a slow and steady decline."

Some Items Are Down

Snap beans, beets, broccoli, cabbage and cauliflower led the list of lower-priced vegetables this week, but asparagus, carrots and scallions also were down somewhat in most places. Best tomatoes were higher but there was a wide range of prices varying with quality and condition. Livelier demand strengthened escarole, fresh corn and celery prices.

Watermelon was becoming more plentiful and with Texas and Arizona shipments due soon, sellers marked off their prices. Several chains planned to feature watermelon as a weekend special. Strawberries and peaches were more abundant but good demand kept prices about unchanged. Shoppers also were buying lots of cherries, so that prices edged higher even although supplies were generally much heavier than at this time last year.

Weekend specials in the big chains and major independents included roasting chickens, turkeys, blade chuck pot roasts, rib roasts, ground beef, smoked hams, snap beans, onions, cabbage and cheese.

U. S. paper money in its present size was first issued in 1928.

Parts With Clothing Too

New York (AP)—The idea of coeds parting with their unmentionables via recent collegiate "panty raids" is nothing new to Dorothy Lamour. She's been parting with clothing for years. Paramount Pictures reports here that several hundred Lamour sarongs adorn the rooms of college men, servicemen's quarters and even museums. She claims one of her sarongs is in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. During World War 2 many of her sarongs were auctioned off to spur bond drives. A Texan once parted with $397,850 for one of the colorful garments.

Consumer Incomes Gain

Washington, June 11 (AP)—Consumer incomes moved up to a record high in April, the Commerce Department reported today. But the amount of money earned in wages fell below the totals of the previous month. Overall incomes jumped 700 million dollars over March, achieving an annual rate of $258,900,000,000. Department figures are not adjusted month-to-month basis but on an annual basis, with seasonal rises and declines taken into consideration. The figures measure total income of individuals from a number of sources, such as wages and salaries, pension payments, rentals and dividends and interest on stocks and bonds.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Frying chickens and eggs cost a little more in most food stores this week. Potatoes, though much more plentiful, held close to the higher price levels reached last week-end after their price ceilings were suspended.

Many fresh vegetables were lower in markets receiving sharply increased supplies from nearby truck gardens enjoying favorably warm growing weather. Citrus fruits, plums and cherries were mostly higher.

Frying chickens (with cranberry sauce were adopted this year as the "official main dish" for Father's Day dinner this Sunday by the National Father's Day Committee.

Fryer Prices Are Up

But fryer prices in most sections were up 2 to as much as 7 cents a pound over last week-end. Poultry buyers for leading store chains said demand for the lightweight chickens has been good and that supplies had been further reduced because recent low prices had led producers to trim production. Larger chickens—five pounds and over—were reported unusually plentiful and lower-priced this week.

Beef, pork and lamb prices showed little overall change.

The 1 to 2 cents a dozen advance in large eggs was attributed to warmer weather, which increases the difficulty of maintaining top egg quality and results in seasonally lower production.

Potato Prices Soar

Potato prices soared as much as 50 per cent in many retail markets after the ceilings were lifted, and wholesale quotations were at 29-year highs in some cities.

The situation was spotty, however. A few stores even held the retail price line at the old ceilings and said they would try to continue doing so until wholesale prices drop, as a feature to attract customers. Others said they would hold their potato buying to a minimum until prices returned to what their customers consider reasonable levels—and advised consumers to do likewise.

Short Upsurge Expected

Produce authorities at both the shipper and retailer level predicted that the price upsurge would be short-lived. They said heavy shipments were en route from California, the Carolinas, Virginia and elsewhere and that any shortages that still remained this week could be traced to the time lag in shipping to terminal markets. Most said they expected potatoes to be so plentiful by the middle of next week that prices all along the line would drop back close to the old ceiling levels—or lower.

"The legitimate potato traders are back in the market now and the impact of their big-scale operations will be felt generally next week," said one of the biggest shippers, Fred H. Vahlsing, Jr. "We don't expect a sharp price break, but a slow and steady decline."

Some Items Are Down

Snap beans, beets, broccoli, cabbage and cauliflower led the list of lower-priced vegetables this week, but asparagus, carrots and scallions also were down somewhat in most places. Best tomatoes were higher but there was a wide range of prices varying with quality and condition. Livelier demand strengthened escarole, fresh corn and celery prices.

Watermelon was becoming more plentiful and with Texas and Arizona shipments due soon, sellers marked off their prices. Several chains planned to feature watermelon as a weekend special. Strawberries and peaches were more abundant but good demand kept prices about unchanged. Shoppers also were buying lots of cherries, so that prices edged higher even although supplies were generally much heavier than at this time last year.

Weekend specials in the big chains and major independents included roasting chickens, turkeys, blade chuck pot roasts, rib roasts, ground beef, smoked hams, snap beans, onions, cabbage and cheese.

Parts With Clothing Too

New York (AP)—The idea of coeds parting with their unmentionables via recent collegiate "panty raids" is nothing new to Dorothy Lamour. She's been parting with clothing for years. Paramount Pictures reports here that several hundred Lamour sarongs adorn the rooms of college men, servicemen's quarters and even museums. She claims one of her sarongs is in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. During World War 2 many of her sarongs were auctioned off to spur bond drives. A Texan once parted with $397,850 for one of the colorful garments.

YMCA Camp Aides Attend Training Leadership Class

The YMCA Day Camp assistants and junior and senior leaders held an educational leadership training class this week at the Y with the full lay-out of camp and its duties given to all the Day Camp supervisors by Lou Schafer, director.

Fifteen young men and women attended and heard a detailed explanation of the various types of Day Camp supervision. Much time was given on the craft work and the story and noon-day rest hour along with story telling and story book reading.

Following this work session, the entire group went to the swimming pool where the camp director demonstrated the entire four National YMCA progressive swimming tests. Following the demonstration of each swimming skill, the entire leaders corp went through each stunt so that they would know the exact style for good performance.

All beginners are put in the Minnow Class in which all campers must learn seven skills with the final being able to swim 25 feet and return. The second progressive test is the Fish club in which the swimmer learns nine skills leading up to swimming 100 yards using two different strokes. The third club is the Flying Fish, and the swimmer is taught 10 skills, leading up to 11 yards in the crawl stroke and the swimmer must also swim 220 yards, any style. The final club is the Shark in which the camper is taught 10 skills, all leading up to life saving strokes, and the demonstration of a good front and back dive and ending with the swimmer doing a 440 yard swim, or a quarter of a mile.

Progressive Program

According to experts throughout the country, this is one of the best progressive programs ever undertaken. Besides teaching the art of swimming, it teaches stunts and water skills that should make all swimmers better able to handle himself in almost any emergency.

Camp leaders in attendance were Paul Donohue, Springfield College; Miriam Snyder, Plattsburgh State Teachers College, as the two assistants. Senior leaders are Una Louise Schafer, Claire Griffin, William Engle, Joseph Gallagher from Kingston; and Robert Cassano, New Paltz.

Second year junior leaders are Bruce Bechtold, Betsy Rigby, Ann Griffin, Lillian Garrity and Louis Black.

First year junior leaders are Martin Fein, Saugerties; Henry Vincent and Jack Gaddis, Kingston.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, June 11 (AP)—A tense border dispute developed between Argentina and Brazil today as the Rio government reinforced its frontier troops to halt alleged raids by President Juan D. New York, June 12 (AP) — Agreements have been signed for purchase of the bankrupt New York, Ontario and Western Railway Company.

Lincoln Epworth, New York city lawyer, signed the agreements first yesterday as purchaser. He announced later that the Federal Court trustees of the railroad had signed.

After a hearing tentatively scheduled for June 25, the agreements will be offered for approval by Federal Judge Edward A. Conger.

There was no immediate estimate on the overall price for Epworth's purchase of the entire railroad, but he said he would make a cash payment of three million dollars toward the purchase.

YMCA Camp Aides Attend Training Leadership Class

The YMCA Day Camp assistants and junior and senior leaders held an educational leadership training class this week at the Y with the full lay-out of camp and its duties given to all the Day Camp supervisors by Lou Schafer, director.

Fifteen young men and women attended and heard a detailed explanation of the various types of Day Camp supervision. Much time was given on the craft work and the story and noon-day rest hour along with story telling and story book reading.

Following this work session, the entire group went to the swimming pool where the camp director demonstrated the entire four National YMCA progressive swimming tests. Following the demonstration of each swimming skill, the entire leaders corp went through each stunt so that they would know the exact style for good performance.

All beginners are put in the Minnow Class in which all campers must learn seven skills with the final being able to swim 25 feet and return. The second progressive test is the Fish club in which the swimmer learns nine skills leading up to swimming 100 yards using two different strokes. The third club is the Flying Fish, and the swimmer is taught 10 skills, leading up to 11 yards in the crawl stroke and the swimmer must also swim 220 yards, any style. The final club is the Shark in which the camper is taught 10 skills, all leading up to life saving strokes, and the demonstration of a good front and back dive and ending with the swimmer doing a 440 yard swim, or a quarter of a mile.

Progressive Program

According to experts throughout the country, this is one of the best progressive programs ever undertaken. Besides teaching the art of swimming, it teaches stunts and water skills that should make all swimmers better able to handle himself in almost any emergency.

Camp leaders in attendance were Paul Donohue, Springfield College; Miriam Snyder, Plattsburgh State Teachers College, as the two assistants. Senior leaders are Una Louise Schafer, Claire Griffin, William Engle, Joseph Gallagher from Kingston; and Robert Cassano, New Paltz.

Second year junior leaders are Bruce Bechtold, Betsy Rigby, Ann Griffin, Lillian Garrity and Louis Black.

First year junior leaders are Martin Fein, Saugerties; Henry Vincent and Jack Gaddis, Kingston.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 12 (AP)—A moderate amount of buying interest in railroads today encouraged the stock market to advance a bit.

There was no concentration of demand at any time, but there was a modest response shown by steels, radio-television, and some merchandising issues, chemicals and utilities.

Prices were up by fractions to between 1 and 2 points with the bulk of the advance in the lower reaches of that range. Losses were almost entirely fractional.

An evident air of cautiousness about the market stemmed from the meeting of steel management and union officials with government representatives in an effort to get defense steel moving out of struck mills. And, too, the outcome of the tussle between Congress and the President over plant seizure powers or other methods of ending the strike would be welcomed.

Stocks getting ahead included Northern Pacific, New York Central, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Dow Chemical, Zenith Radio, and Gulf Oil.

Amerada Petroleum, which shot ahead yesterday 12¼ points at 222¼, was quiet today and traded mostly at unchanged prices.

Manpower Needs, Local Business Are On C of C Agenda

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a program designed to promote a better understanding of the American economic system and create a greater public appreciation of the importance of established industries. This decision was made at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night, at which President Lawrence J. MacAvery presided. The details of the program will be developed by a special committee.

The Chamber also will set up a city-wide retail merchants committee to work with the three sectional merchants associations in the city. The personnel of this committee will be announced as soon as acceptances of the appointments have been received. The committee is expected to develop an over-all city-wide promotional program, with a recommendation as to the type of program to be carried out and how it should be financed.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, of which the Kingston Chamber of Commerce is a member, is holding a nationwide referendum regarding the method to be favored to meet military manpower needs. It was decided to give all members of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce an opportunity to express their preference and vote accordingly in the referendum.

Members will be asked to indicate if they believe the manpower requirements should be met by reliance upon continued use of the present system of selective service or by a permanent system of universal military training. The ballots will be sent out with a newsletter to members in the near future.

Those present at the Tuesday directors' meeting were B. C. Anderson, Chester A. Baltz, Jr., Harry J. Beatty, L. V. Bogert, Pratt Boice, Clarence H. Buddenhagen, C. Robert Cousins, Joseph F. Deegan, Deweese W. DeWitt, Raymond W. Garraghan, Lawrence J. MacAvery, Maynard Mizel, Lawrence Quilty, George W. Schneider, Henry Singer, and Executive Secretary Albert Kurdt.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 12 (AP)—A moderate amount of buying interest in railroads today encouraged the stock market to advance a bit.

There was no concentration of demand at any time, but there was a modest response shown by steels, radio-television, and some merchandising issues, chemicals and utilities.

Prices were up by fractions to between 1 and 2 points with the bulk of the advance in the lower reaches of that range. Losses were almost entirely fractional.

An evident air of cautiousness about the market stemmed from the meeting of steel management and union officials with government representatives in an effort to get defense steel moving out of struck mills. And, too, the outcome of the tussle between Congress and the President over plant seizure powers or other methods of ending the strike would be welcomed.

Stocks getting ahead included Northern Pacific, New York Central, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Dow Chemical, Zenith Radio, and Gulf Oil.

Amerada Petroleum, which shot ahead yesterday 12¼ points at 222¼, was quiet today and traded mostly at unchanged prices. Amerada has brought in a new oil well in North Dakota's Tioga field indicating an extension of oil producing lands in that area.

Motorola, up 2⅞ yesterday at 71⅜, was quiet and steady today. The jump was ascribed to split rumors.

The stock market yesterday was higher in a rebound from the Tuesday slump. About half the lost ground was recovered.

Curb exchange stocks were higher today with trading brisk. Moving ahead were such issues as Thiokol, Electric Bond & Share, Standard Power & Light and Venezuela Petroleum.

Corporate bonds were quietly steady. U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were higher.

Manpower Needs, Local Business Are On C of C Agenda

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a program designed to promote a better understanding of the American economic system and create a greater public appreciation of the importance of established industries. This decision was made at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night, at which President Lawrence J. MacAvery presided. The details of the program will be developed by a special committee.

The Chamber also will set up a city-wide retail merchants committee to work with the three sectional merchants associations in the city. The personnel of this committee will be announced as soon as acceptances of the appointments have been received. The committee is expected to develop an over-all city-wide promotional program, with a recommendation as to the type of program to be carried out and how it should be financed.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, of which the Kingston Chamber of Commerce is a member, is holding a nationwide referendum regarding the method to be favored to meet military manpower needs. It was decided to give all members of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce an opportunity to express their preference and vote accordingly in the referendum.

Members will be asked to indicate if they believe the manpower requirements should be met by reliance upon continued use of the present system of selective service or by a permanent system of universal military training. The ballots will be sent out with a newsletter to members in the near future.

Those present at the Tuesday directors' meeting were B. C. Anderson, Chester A. Baltz, Jr., Harry J. Beatty, L. V. Bogert, Pratt Boice, Clarence H. Buddenhagen, C. Robert Cousins, Joseph F. Deegan, Deweese W. DeWitt, Raymond W Garraghan, Lawrence J. MacAvery, Maynard Mizel, Lawrence Quilty, George W. Schneider, Henry Singer, and Executive Secretary Albert Kurdt.

Parents Reminded About Peril That Summer Produces

Summertime is for fun, play and for being outdoors—play often, have fun, but play safe.

That was the advice given today by Richard Kalish, president of the Ulster County Safety Council.

A warning against over-exertion during the hot weather and also a warning to parents on dangerous places which may attract children in play during the summer season, has been issued by the Safety Council.

"You'll be having family sprees, going swimming, picnicking, vacationing. There'll be many days when you'll all be occupied around the home, too, working in the yard, playing in the neighborhood. The days get warm, then hot. Take it easy during 'dog' days when heat exhaustion and sunstroke are a possibility," warns the Council.

Children left to their own devices during the long summer get bored and hunt up things to amuse themselves. Exploration is all right in its place, but forbid playing around such dangerous places as abandoned mines, excavations, pits, construction work, empty houses, quarries, dumps and junk yards and on railroad property.

It's wiser to plan hikes under proper supervision than risk drowning, falls, being struck by falling debris, cuts and crushing from playing in hazardous areas.

Each year there are cases of children who have suffocated when unthinking companions have locked them in discarded ice boxes. Deaths have come from children playing on railroad property or through falling into pits or abandoned wells while at play.

Elimination of these hazards will prevent further deaths and proper supervision of young folks during their leisure time will prevent many serious accidents.

UNGRACIOUS SON-IN-LAW

A distressed mother writes me: "Last Sunday I went to see my daughter who was ill. Instead of ringing the bell when I arrived, which I thought might awaken her if she was asleep, I turned the knob, and finding the door unlocked, I walked in. I was flabbergasted when my son-in-law, who was in the kitchen, said to me, 'Don't you know you should knock before entering anyone's house?' I would certainly never do this anywhere else, but as it was my daughter's house, I felt free to walk in when the door was unlatched."

Your son-in-law was inexcusably rude in speaking to you as he did, and while you might quite properly tell him that an unlatched front door would certainly grant permission to any member of the family to enter, I think it will be best policy, for the sake of your daughter, to show no resentment and to do as he wishes in the future.

Consideration for Guest Speaker

Dear Mrs. Post: Frequently I am called upon by women's organizations to speak at their meetings. I am usually told what time to come, but invariably I am kept waiting anywhere from an hour to an hour and a half while the business meeting is being conducted. My time is limited and it irritates me to have to sit in a dingy, uncomfortable anteroom until they have finished. Will you please comment on this in your column so that those who invite guest speakers will show them a little more consideration?

Answer: In accepting you may quite properly explain that you can give only so much time, and ask them to let you know the exact hour they wish you to speak.

From Groom's Parents

Dear Mrs. Post: Is there a conventional gift which is customarily given by the bridegroom's parents to the bride?

Answer: There is no rule. This depends entirely upon what they can afford and what the bride and groom especially need. If they are very well to do, a piece of jewelry is usual, next silver; otherwise an item for the house.

Some readers have written that they find introduction of family and friends confusing. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-17, "introductions," will be helpful. ### Thief Is Caught

Dover, O., June 12 (AP)—They finally spotted the thief who has been stealing coins from Mrs. D. L. Staneart's mail box. But forgiving postal authorities have decided against prosecution. The dastardly deeds have been perpetrated by a wren that entered a small opening in the box at nearby Tippecanoe. The coins had been left to pay for postage. Mrs. Staneart hasn't found out yet where the bird spends the money.

Duryea Seeks Aid

Albany, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duryea today looked to New York's congressmen for aid in a campaign to force the U. S. Wildlife Service to change the state's duck season. Duryea criticized the service yesterday in a statement contending that the "federal agency refuses to be consistent" and give New York open seasons "comparable to those set for adjoining states." "We are left no other course but to seek action through our elected representatives in Washington," Duryea said. "New York's many thousands of duck hunters, now that they are aware that they are in the bag again, unquestionably will take similar action."

Uncle Sam can't make ends meet on a billion dollars a week. He has a large and sprawling domestic menage to maintain. And his foreign cousins, menaced militarily and economically by the unprincipled Communists, require his constant economic support.

For the fiscal year about to end, his average weekly expenses up to this writing have been $1,220,000,000. His average weekly income from all sources has been $1,088,000,000. So he has had to borrow $134,000,000 a week to get by. A year ago, his debt was a little less than 255 billions of dollars. Today it is over 260 billions.

It is a poor record. Tell your senator and your congressman so. How long, pray, can such things go on? What is a secretary of the United States Treasury supposed to do? Act as a rubber stamp for all acts and measures that approve gigantic spending on the one hand and condone crippling taxation on the other?

In this election year it would be a fine thing for many voters to get the tax views of leading citizens in every community. Let the reader write down the names of a dozen business, financial and professional leaders living in his town or city. As opportunity presents itself, go and talk with each of these persons about their local, state and federal tax bills. You will hear complaints on every hand about the size of the tax levies.

Yet, despite terrific federal tax collections, Uncle Sam still has badly unbalanced budgets. We need in Washington—regardless of party—a fiscal expert who knows when expenditures are too high and taxes excessive.

The painful thing about our present economy is that inflation infests our price levels, our wage scales, our cost schedules and our tax bases. Bad fiscal policies have been largely responsible for much of this.

Now if there is to be a reversal of the economic trends that have brought on and nurtured inflation, America will experience quite a readjustment of the economy. Yet a sound dollar necessitates such a reversal.

A balanced budget, lower taxes, reduced expenditures—these are items that a courageous government should give to the people in the effort to promote a sounder economy which would help to restore integrity in the dollar. Inflation is only a delusion. It sets up artificial standards which eventually fail because of their own weakness.

Material values are circumscribed by the economic forces surrounding them. That is why, I think, all investors should carefully relate their savings to the kind of values they expect to buy. The inflation I have been writing about supports a lot of dangerous buying power.

Here is John Jones, representative American. What are his standard-of-living essentials? Food for the family; gas and electricity; oil for his car; clothes and knick-knacks for his wife and children. In a pinch (a deflationary period) he can forgo a new car, long vacations and luxurious items that easy money afforded.

Categorically, I would prefer to buy a good oil stock selling to yield 5 per cent than a good motor stock paying 8 per cent. Political and economic events in 1952 and 1953 may cause John Jones to postpone indefinitely his desired purchase of a new car. He may drive his old car into 1955-56-57 and the longer he drives it, the more oil he will use.

Again, I would rather buy a good public utility yielding 6 per cent than a presently prosperous (because of inflation) industrial stock paying 10 per cent. Electricity is electricity; cooking gas is cooking gas.

It could be that 1953 will usher in a year of sane governmental finance. It is high time that our deteriorating dollar — which has caused and is causing so much industrial strife and bitterness — come to rest on a base of financial solvency.

It is a disgrace to America to have to report weekly borrowings of $134,000,000 and at the same time to realize that individuals and corporations are being taxed to death.

Reader, if your financial house is not in order on the top of our present plateau of inflationary prosperity, prepare now to set it so. Unbalanced budgets and gigantic borrowing will not forever endure. Before buying values for investment, examine their inflationary character.

Channel Collision

Rotterdam, The Netherlands, June 12 (AP)—The explosive-laden U. S. freighter Princeton Victory collided early today with a British ship in the English Channel but arrived here under her own power. Harbor officials were checking the Princeton Victor before unloading her to be certain there was no danger of a explosion.

There are some things you can't learn from books

A man could read about the science of brewing till his eyes popped out—and still not know the first thing about making beer of Schaefer quality. The reason is that nobody has ever found a way to put down on paper the skill acquired by 110 years of making fine lager beer.

Beer in the making must be watched constantly by craftsmen who know exactly how to control each phase of its development. This calls for the seasoned judgment of experience. Schaefer has been making lager beer longer than anybody else in the United States. That's why Schaefer beer is something special.

Try a glass of Schaefer today. We think you'll enjoy it even more because you know how much care and skill went into its brewing.

Act as a rubber stamp for all acts and measures that approve gigantic spending on the one hand and condone crippling taxation on the other?

In this election year it would be a fine thing for many voters to get the tax views of leading citizens in every community. Let the reader write down the names of a dozen business, financial and professional leaders living in his town or city. As opportunity presents itself, go and talk with each of these persons about their local, state and federal tax bills. You will hear complaints on every hand about the size of the tax levies.

Yet, despite terrific federal tax collections, Uncle Sam still has badly unbalanced budgets. We need in Washington—regardless of party—a fiscal expert who knows when expenditures are too high and taxes excessive.

The painful thing about our present economy is that inflation infests our price levels, our wage scales, our cost schedules and our tax bases. Bad fiscal policies have been largely responsible for much of this.

Now if there is to be a reversal of the economic trends that have brought on and nurtured inflation, America will experience quite a readjustment of the economy. Yet a sound dollar necessitates such a reversal.

A balanced budget, lower taxes, reduced expenditures—these are items that a courageous government should give to the people in the effort to promote a sounder economy which would help to restore integrity in the dollar. Inflation is only a delusion. It sets up artificial standards which eventually fail because of their own weakness.

Material values are circumscribed by the economic forces surrounding them. That is why, I think, all investors should carefully relate their savings to the kind of values they expect to buy. The inflation I have been writing about supports a lot of dangerous buying power.

Here is John Jones, representative American. What are his standard-of-living essentials? Food for the family; gas and electricity; oil for his car; clothes and knick-knacks for his wife and children. In a pinch (a deflationary period) he can forgo a new car, long vacations and luxurious items that easy money afforded.

Categorically, I would prefer to buy a good oil stock selling to yield 5 per cent than a good motor stock paying 8 per cent. Political and economic events in 1952 and 1953 may cause John Jones to postpone indefinitely his desired purchase of a new car. He may drive his old car into 1955-56-57 and the longer he drives it, the more oil he will use.

Again, I would rather buy a good public utility yielding 6 per cent than a presently prosperous (because of inflation) industrial stock paying 10 per cent. Electricity is electricity; cooking gas is cooking gas.

It could be that 1953 will usher in a year of sane governmental finance. It is high time that our deteriorating dollar — which has caused and is causing so much industrial strife and bitterness — come to rest on a base of financial solvency.

It is a disgrace to America to have to report weekly borrowings of $134,000,000 and at the same time to realize that individuals and corporations are being taxed to death.

Reader, if your financial house is not in order on the top of our present plateau of inflationary prosperity, prepare now to set it so. Unbalanced budgets and gigantic borrowing will not forever endure. Before buying values for investment, examine their inflationary character.

Pollen used in artificial pollination is sometimes frozen and kept for use the following season.

Channel Collision

Rotterdam, The Netherlands, June 12 (AP)—The explosive-laden U. S. freighter Princeton Victory collided early today with a British ship in the English Channel but arrived here under her own power. Harbor officials were checking the Princeton Victor before unloading her to be certain there was no danger of a explosion.

Sulfuric acid is consumed in the United States at the rate of about 157 pounds per year for every man, woman and child.

There are some things you can't learn from books

A man could read about the science of brewing till his eyes popped out—and still not know the first thing about making beer of Schaefer quality. The reason is that nobody has ever found a way to put down on paper the skill acquired by 110 years of making fine lager beer.

Beer in the making must be watched constantly by craftsmen who know exactly how to control each phase of its development. This calls for the seasoned judgment of experience. Schaefer has been making lager beer longer than anybody else in the United States. That's why Schaefer beer is something special.

Try a glass of Schaefer today. We think you'll enjoy it even more because you know how much care and skill went into its brewing.

make it clear... make it Schaefer BEER

Rabbis Oppose Prayer

Buffalo, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—The Central Conference of American Rabbis is on record against the New York State Board of Regents' recommendation that every public school day be opened with a prayer. At a session of its 63rd annual meeting yesterday, the conference said the introduction of such non-sectarian prayer might lead to encroachments upon the principle of separation of church and state.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

It is going to be mighty difficult to keep your head while everyone about you is talking about the elections during the next 21 weeks.

During this period (and indeed until January) there will be no head to the government. The titular head of the nation will be whistling off in all directions trying to elect a Democrat (or himself) to office, leaving the critical affairs of the country in the hands of cabinet members and bureaucrats.

Maybe it would be a good thing if we asked someone to rip out of our newspapers all items pertaining to the candidates, leaving news relative to foreign affairs and domestic matters for us to analyze with minds unfettered by political propaganda.

This is not imply that the coming elections are not important. They are vital. But there is almost a certainty that during this period, when the minds and energies of those who conduct our international dealings will be consumed by political maneuvering, during this interregnum, crises will develop in the world that will require the most intense concentration, if they are to be combatted successfully.

The situation is made to order for the Russians, for example. They know that (1) attention in this country will be divided, and (2) that they can probably influence the elections by tactical maneuvering.

It would not surprise the Ruminator if no very great crisis came to a head until after the nominating conventions. Contrary to the opinion of a great many people, I think that Russia would prefer to see an avowed internationalist and spender, like President Truman, in the White House for the next four years. I doubt very much if the Kremlin would pick Taft, for example, as their preference. I know this may sound contrarily ridiculous to many readers, but my reasoning is based upon the hard facts that economic warfare and eventual collapse of the western nations comprise the safest strategy for Russia.

I am perfectly willing to concede that Russia can mount a military offensive at any moment, but it is likewise certain that Stalin and his cohorts recognize that a total, all-out war could only end in the devastation of Russia as well as of the so-called free world. In other words, another world war—an atomic war—can only result in every nation's losing. There would be no victors, except perhaps a few of the underdeveloped countries would escape devastation because they would not be worth attacking.

However, there is no question but that there must be a limit to the costs of defense or Russia will win the economic war.

Accordingly, it seems to me that Russia would prefer a Democratic victory in November. Thus far, from General Eisenhower's comments, it would appear that he, too, recognizes there is a limit to the financial burdens we can assume. However, if you take the long view, I am inclined to believe that the Taft-Hoover-MacArthur strategy for protection of the United States is the safest for all nations of the free world. For the short view, it is understandable that many believe we should spend unreservedly now to build up strength to ward off a Russian attack. The danger in this is that we and our western European allies may all go broke in the process—and that will make it quite easy for communism to infiltrate far deeper than it has up to this point (and heaven knows it has already penetrated dangerously deep).

It is from these angles that the Ruminator thinks we have to consider the elections. It is all very well to say that such-and-such a candidate should be elected because he is an "internationalist" but at the same time we are forced to consider a balanced outlook, I believe, if we wish to preserve our American free enterprise system. There is no candidate running for office who would cut us off from Europe or Asia, but there is, of course, a decided difference in the extent of interventionism to which the various candidates have shown allegiance.

So let us not be carried away solely by the campaign news, but reserve some of our brain space for international ruminating—because there is not the slightest doubt but that international responsibilities and the extent of our intervention in foreign affairs will mark the road we'll all be travelling for a long time to come.

Poughkeepsian Put Under Court Supervision

Chicago, June 12 (AP)—Three youths who threw a South Side neighborhood into angry turmoil last month when they displayed the Russian flag to "test public reaction" were under court supervision for six months today.

The defendants, Lowell S. Schurman, 19, Richard Karwin, 18, both of Chicago, and Robert Kaplan, 19, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., appeared yesterday before Judge Joseph Drucker in Boy's Court on a disorderly conduct charge.

The youths were arrested May 18 after they flew the flag from the window of Kaplan's Chicago apartment. Angry neighbors gathered beneath the seven foot banner and shouted protests.

At an earlier court appearance, the defendants denied they were Communists and said they are loyal to the United States. They said the incident was an experiment to determine public reaction.

There was no testimony yesterday, before Judge Drucker entered the order.

Kaplan and Schurman are students at the University of Chicago. Karwin is a former student at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Calls on Liberals

New York, June 12 (AP)—President Truman told the Liberal party last night that 1952 is a "critical year" for liberals in the United States. Truman said liberals "must stand together so that our cherished ideals will not be delivered into the keeping of those who would wittingly or unwittingly see them destroyed. " Liberal State Chairman Adolf A. Berle, Jr., addressing the gathering, named four men as "qualified" candidates for president. The four, all Democrats, are Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, and Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman, "favorite son" of New York state Democrats for the nomination.

12th Army Barge Is Launched by Local Shipyard

The 12th U. S. Army barge was launched at 8:15 a. m. today by Island Dock.

The barge, one of 21 being built by the local shipyard, 100 feet long, steel deck type, was sponsored by Mrs. Cornelius Buboltz of 66 East Pierpont street, wife of the Island Dock foreman of fabricating tables.

According to Roger Mabie of Island Dock, had the ferry launching gone off as expected, this would have been the fifth barge launched in the last five weeks. The ferry was stuck during an attempted launching about a week ago.

Mabie explained that the barge was launched at 8:15 a. m. to catch high tide.

Attending the launching were Island Dock and naval personnel. Representing the navy were Lieut. Cmdr. John Bartlett, Lieut. (jg) Herbert Cooper and Maitland Smith, resident civilian naval inspector at Island Dock.

Will Propose Deal

Canberra, Australia, June 12 (AP)—Australia will propose a deal with the United States and Britain for further development of the dominion's rich uranium fields, Acting Prime Minister Sir Arthur Fadden announced today. No details were made public.

Bank of Rondout $10 Note, 1875, Turns Up

A Bank of Rondout $10 note dated Nov. 4, 1857, showed up Tuesday in the possession of W. F. Gray of Albany, one of the War Department engineers surveying Rondout harbor.

Gray, who formerly operated a liquor store in Albany, said that he found the note, and about 50 others on different banks, when he took over the store 35 years ago and cleaned out an old safe.

Signatures on the note have been dimmed by time. Three more or less legible appear to be H. K. Cone, I. J. Matthew and Hansen Hasbrouck.

Poughkeepsian Put Under Court Supervision

Chicago, June 12 (AP)—Three youths who threw a South Side neighborhood into angry turmoil last month when they displayed the Russian flag to "test public reaction" were under court supervision for six months today.

The defendants, Lowell S. Schurman, 19, Richard Karwin, 18, both of Chicago, and Robert Kaplan, 19, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., appeared yesterday before Judge Joseph Drucker in Boy's Court on a disorderly conduct charge.

The youths were arrested May 18 after they flew the flag from the window of Kaplan's Chicago apartment. Angry neighbors gathered beneath the seven foot banner and shouted protests.

At an earlier court appearance, the defendants denied they were Communists and said they are loyal to the United States. They said the incident was an experiment to determine public reaction.

There was no testimony yesterday, before Judge Drucker entered the order.

Kaplan and Schurman are students at the University of Chicago. Karwin is a former student at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Calls on Liberals

New York, June 12 (AP)—President Truman told the Liberal party last night that 1952 is a "critical year" for liberals in the United States. Truman said liberals "must stand together so that our cherished ideals will not be delivered into the keeping of those who would wittingly or unwittingly see them destroyed. " Liberal State Chairman Adolf A. Berle, Jr., addressing the gathering, named four men as "qualified" candidates for president. The four, all Democrats, are Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, and Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman, "favorite son" of New York state Democrats for the nomination.

12th Army Barge Is Launched by Local Shipyard

The 12th U. S. Army barge was launched at 8:15 a. m. today by Island Dock.

The barge, one of 21 being built by the local shipyard, 100 feet long, steel deck type, was sponsored by Mrs. Cornelius Buboltz of 66 East Pierpont street, wife of the Island Dock foreman of fabricating tables.

According to Roger Mabie of Island Dock, had the ferry launching gone off as expected, this would have been the fifth barge launched in the last five weeks. The ferry was stuck during an attempted launching about a week ago.

Mabie explained that the barge was launched at 8:15 a. m. to catch high tide.

Attending the launching were Island Dock and naval personnel. Representing the navy were Lieut. Cmdr. John Bartlett, Lieut. (jg) Herbert Cooper and Maitland Smith, resident civilian naval inspector at Island Dock.

Will Propose Deal

Bank of Rondout $10 Note, 1875, Turns Up

A Bank of Rondout $10 note dated Nov. 4, 1857, showed up Tuesday in the possession of W. F. Gray of Albany, one of the War Department engineers surveying Rondout harbor.

Gray, who formerly operated a liquor store in Albany, said that he found the note, and about 50 others on different banks, when he took over the store 35 years ago and cleaned out an old safe.

Signatures on the note have been dimmed by time. Three more or less legible appear to be H. K. Cone, I. J. Matthew and Hansen Hasbrouck.

Georgia Woman Held on Charges

New York, June 12 (AP)—Mrs. Carolyn Smith Leogrande, 22, mother of two children and said to be a niece of a former governor of Georgia, tearfully admitted in a police lineup that she has cashed phony checks for more than $500 in Queens.

The petite, ash blonde also admitted cashing fraudulent checks in Los Angeles, Atlanta and New Orleans, police said.

Police said she told them that her husband, Dominick, a fruit merchant, left their Queens home last April and that she toured the nation with her small sons seeking him.

The children, one, four and the other 15 months, are now with her mother in Atlanta, she said.

Taken in New Orleans

Mrs. Leogrande was arrested in New Orleans May 23, and brought here by plane last night. Police said her husband was en route here from New Orleans by bus.

Police said she was a niece of the late Hoke Smith, Georgia governor, and the daughter of a noted bonus marcher in the early 1930's.

They said she used blank checks, writing in the name of the Citizens Insurance Bank of Atlanta, a non-existent institution.

She is charged specifically with cashing a worthless $125 check on May 10 with Leonard Samuels, a druggist, of 83-19 Rockaway Beach Boulevard, Rockaway Beach.

The case of Joseph F. Nash, 35, of 100 O'Neil street, charged with impairing the morals of a minor, was adjourned by Judge Mino until Saturday, June 14, at the request of Attorney Charles Saccoman, counsel for Nash.

Nash was arrested June 4 on the complaint of a 14-year-old boy, according to Police Lieut. William Leonard.

Thomas Golgoski, 22, of 110 Greenkill avenue, charged with passing a stop sign, forfeited $10 bail when he failed to appear. He was arrested at 3:40 p. m. Wednesday on O'Neil street near Smith avenue by Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr.

Palsy Main Charity

The association's annual clambakes the past two years benefited the Kingston Boys Club to the extent of $500 and the Cerebral Palsy Clinic, $750, it was announced.

Would Like to Know

Albany, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—Maj. Charles Barr of the Albany Air Defense Filter Center would like to know who phoned in that false report on "enemy aircraft." A woman's voice yesterday told a sub-key warning center in the area: "This is Albany calling. Enemy aircraft has been sighted over Canada." Barr said: "We have checked all the way through and the Eastern Air Defense Command has informed us that all aircraft in the United States and Canada are accounted for."

Clothing moths are believed to have been taken to the United States by early settlers from Europe.

Hoppe Is Elected By Restaurateurs

Charles Hoppe, restaurant operator on Wall street in this city, assumed the presidency of the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association, Inc., at the group's meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Knights of Columbus Building. Hoppe, who was vice president, succeeds Frank Carpino, who resigned.

Hoppe's first action as president was the appointment of Joseph Assion of the Alpine, Rosendale, as chairman of the clambake committee. Proceeds of this year's bake will go to the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Clinic.

Palsy Main Charity

The association's annual clambakes the past two years benefited the Kingston Boys Club to the extent of $500 and the Cerebral Palsy Clinic, $750, it was announced.

The bake this year will be held Monday, Sept. 8, and is the association's principal charity event, supplementing the individual contributions of members.

Other members of the clambake committee are Gene Sottile, Ray Amell, Al Barone, George Broome, Floyd Scott, Herbert Wity and Anthony Saccoman. The first meeting of the committee will be Tuesday, June 24, at the Alpine Hotel.

Would Like to Know

Albany, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—Maj. Charles Barr of the Albany Air Defense Filter Center would like to know who phoned in that false report on "enemy aircraft." A woman's voice yesterday told a sub-key warning center in the area: "This is Albany calling. Enemy aircraft has been sighted over Canada." Barr said: "We have checked all the way through and the Eastern Air Defense Command has informed us that all aircraft in the United States and Canada are accounted for."

Clothing moths are believed to have been taken to the United States by early settlers from Europe.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

You Can't Be Lax At Bridge Tourney

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When the New England Regional Tournament opens tomorrow in Scituate, Mass., many players will be reminded of a hand played in this tournament last year. The hand, shown today, indicates that the objectives of a tournament player are not the same as those of a rubber bridge player.

South had no chance to make his contract of four clubs, but struggled only to hold the loss to 200 points. The defenders had given up a sure game to double South at four clubs.

They would get a good score if they could collect a penalty of 500 points; but they would score a bottom if they collected only 200 points.

West could have taken declarer to the cleaners if he had opened a diamond. East would ruff and would return a heart to get another ruff. Three rounds of spades would then give the defenders a total of six defensive tricks, for a score of 800 points.

West actually opened his top spade, and East continued with three rounds of that suit. On the third spade, South discarded the queen of hearts.

West discarded the deuce of hearts after careful thought. East should have led a fourth round of spades to let West make his queen of clubs. By this time, of course, West knew the diamond situation and would return a diamond to let his partner ruff. A penalty of 500 points would thus be assured.

Actually East returned the three of hearts. South ruffed, laid down the ace of trumps and continued with the jack of trumps. East had to win the king of clubs, but the defenders were then unable to win another trick.

If East returned a heart, South would ruff and lead his last trump to dummy. When dummy then led another trump, West would be caught in a simple squeeze.

East saw this possibility and therefore returned his last trump instead of a heart. Now West was caught in a problem ending.

At this moment West held five diamonds and two hearts, with a discard still to be made. If West discarded a diamond South could cash his top diamonds and ruff one diamond in dummy.

He would then win the last two tricks with his last trump and a good diamond. If West blanked the ace of hearts, dummy would return the low heart for South to ruff. This would establish dummy's king of hearts.

Sauerkraut Salad Costs Little

SAUERKRAUT HEALTH SALAD has eye appeal, taste appeal and is ideal for economical luncheons during the hot summer ahead.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Low in calories, high in vitamins, cost little but gives a big appetite surprise—this salad is ideal for hot-weather luncheons:

Sauerkraut Health Salad
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One No. 2 can sauerkraut, ½ cup chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon brown sugar, ¼ cup French dressing, 2 or 3 medium-sized fresh tomatoes, 1 cup cottage cheese, 1 No. 2 can green asparagus, drained, paprika.

Place can of sauerkraut in refrigerator overnight or several hours. Open can of sauerkraut and drain off juice. In a bowl, combine sauerkraut with parsley, sugar and French dressing; mix lightly but thoroughly.

With a sharp knife, cut each tomato in half through stem end. Cut each half into three sections lengthwise but only enough to spread tomato, not to separate. Spoon cottage cheese between cuts in tomato.

For each serving, place tomato half on bed of sauerkraut salad. Arrange four asparagus spears by sides of tomato and sprinkle with paprika.

This combination of sauerkraut and lunch meat is perfect on days that seem to wilt the appetite.

Attorney Says PSC Acted Unjustly On Fare Increase

New York, June 12 (AP) — A Westchester county attorney today charged the Public Service Commission with "improper, illegal and unjust" action in ordering recent increases of 25 per cent in New York Central Railroad commuter fares.

The attorney, Philip W. Lowry, who has offices in New York and commutes from Chappaqua, made his charges in a petition sent to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Lowry, stating he was acting in behalf of himself and other Westchester county commuters, urged the governor to direct the PSC to reopen the rate case.

The petition also asks Dewey to have the last fare increase order, now in effect, suspended pending further proceedings.

Lowry charges the PSC ignored the public service law requiring the railroad to prove factually the increased rates are "just and reasonable."

'Estimated Loss' Accepted

He contends the commission accepted instead an "estimated loss" based on the line's "self-serving revisions and adjustments" of a one-month cost study made by it more than four years ago.

Lowry also alleges that the PSC ignored the Central system's own records showing that during the 12-month period—Sept., 1950 to August, 1951—a total of $7,510,782.10 was paid in commuter and multiple ride revenues for the entire network of New York Central's commuter line in the state.

Of this, Lowry contends, $5,218,665.78 came from commuters on the New York & Harlem Railroad, a separate corporate entity. In this connection, Lowry maintains, the commission ignored its own requirement that books of the New York & Harlem as a separate corporate entity be considered apart from those of the New York Central.

The PSC's refusal to consider these records, Lowry said, was "against the interest of five-sevenths of the commuting public of the New York Central system."

Will Hear All

Washington, June 12 (AP)—Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado said today the Republican National Convention Platform Committee he heads is willing to hear all comers before it begins writing the GOP platform at Chicago. The six or eight subcommittees of the main group will begin hearings at Chicago about a week before the convention starts on July 7, Millikin told a reporter. Any witness who appears will be given a hearing, he said.

Robs Finance Office

Syracuse, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—A nervous-looking man walked into the Personal Finance Co. office yesterday and inquired about a loan. Mrs. Celia Lamson motioned him to an interview room. When they were alone, police said, the man drew a gun and forced Mrs. Lamson to lead him to the desk of Mrs. Elizabeth Hopper, a teller. Mrs. Hopper handed over $187. The gunman stuffed the money into a paper bag and escaped through a rear door.

Miss Joan T. Penaro Weds David Kohnke It St. Mary's Church

The marriage of Miss Joan Teresa Penaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Penaro, 352 Broadway, to David William Kohnke, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kohnke, Hornbeck road, Poughkeepsie, took place Sunday, June 8, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 150 guests was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Johnny Knapp's orchestra furnished the music.

Traditional organ wedding selections were played by Ted Riccobono. Martin Kelly, soloist, sang the Ave Maria and Panis Angelicus. The church was decorated with gladioli.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a Renaissance styled gown of white nylon and tulle appliqued with imported Swiss organdy lace, fashioned with a molded bodice and shirred cap sleeves, and a bouffant skirt terminating in a cathedral train. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a matching cloche headpiece. She carried a purple lipped white orchid with stephanotis and freesia.

Miss Doris Penaro was her sister's maid of honor. She was attired in a ballerina length gown of aqua nylon tulle, styled with molded bodice and shirred cap sleeves, with which she wore a matching tulle half hat and carried a basquette of daisies and iris.

The bridesmaids were Phyllis Conlon and Barbara Roosa of this city; Georgia Belmore, Eddyville; and Bel Benfer, Walden. Their gowns, in mauve color with matching half hats, were identical to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried illusion basquettes of spring flowers.

Robert Bowe of Staatsburgh was his cousin's best man. James Lowell, Clinton Corners; Robert Kidd, Walden and Harold Denning and William Von Knoblock of Poughkeepsie, served as ushers.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and Virginia, the couple will live in Poughkeepsie. For traveling, the bride chose an aqua blue silk corded faille dress with white accessories and a white orchid.

Mrs. Kohnke was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '49, and attended New Paltz State Teachers College. She is employed by the New York Telephone Company.

Mr. Kohnke was graduated from Arlington High School, attended New Paltz State Teachers College and is employed by International Business Marchines Corp., Poughkeepsie. He entered service with the U. S. Air Force in 1946 and served for two years in Alaska.

More Sugar Produced

Havana, Cuba, June 12 (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista told sugar-prosperous Cubans last night they are producing a lot more of the sweet stuff than the world will buy. He said he was going to keep almost 20 per cent of this year's crop off the market and cut 1953 production almost a third.

Chezzies Rout Jones Dairy With Seven Runs in Second, 12 to 5

Winners Advance To 2nd Place Tie In Twilight Loop

Tommy Carlino Unloads First Homer of Year

Exploding for seven big runs in the second inning, Chez Emile hammered out a 12 to 5 victory over Jones Dairy in the City League Wednesday night at the Athletic Field.

The victory sent the Chezzies into a two-way tie for second place with Boulevard Gulf. Both clubs have split in four games. Wiltwyck Motors currently hoid a half-game lead over both the Chezzies and Gulfmen.

After the Dairymen took a 2-1 lead in the first inning, thanks to a two-run homer by Tommy Carlino, the first round-tripper of the season, Chez Emile bounced back with its seven-run outburst in the second and then proceeded to walk home with an easy victory.

The Chezzies put together three singles, two walks, three Dairymen errors and a big double by Bob Olen to turn the tide with the seven runs.

Olen Cracks Triple

Olen, whose double featured the second inning rally, exploded a triple in the winner's third when they scored three more runs to make it a 11-2 walkaway.

Jones Dairy closed the gap to 11-5 with a three-run uprising in the fourth on singles by Bob Shelightner, George Brinkman and J. Berardi and a long double by Sal Misasi.

The winners pushed over their final marker in the fifth on a triple by Red Gorsline and an infield out.

Frank Secreto went the distance for the Chezzies to register his first victory. Secreto permitted 10 hits to the Dairymen who outhit the Chezzies but they still pay off on runs. Sal Misasi and Tommy Fisher divided the pitching chores for the losers with Misasi, the starter, being charged with the loss, his first of the season.

W. Slover, left fielder for the winners, paced his club with three hits in three trips. Bob Olen and J. Decker each picked up a pair for the winners. Jones, the Dairymen's hot corner operator, collected two hits.

Next Game Sunday

The next City League contest is scheduled Sunday afternoon with Chez Emile engaging the Colonial Merchants.

LaMotta Rallies To Beat Murphy

Detroit, June 12 (AP)—Jake LaMotta, the human sledge hammer who improves with age, will fight anyone "if there's enough cabbage in it." And anyone includes Light Heavyweight Champion Joe Maxim or challengers Sugar Ray Robinson and Randy Turpin.

Naturally a title fight against the winner of the June 23 Maxim-Robinson championship battle would please him the most.

Jake thinks his unanimous decision over Irish Bob Murphy last night in one of Detroit's wildest-swinging, most-rousing 10-round fights proved he could campaign as a light heavyweight. Jake is a former middleweight champion but has forsaken the lighter class.

A near sellout crowd of 16,008 exploded to its toes when Jake, weighing in at 169¼, behind on points then, battered Murphy with savage rights and lefts to win the ninth and 10th rounds and the decision. Murphy had a 6¼ pound advantage.

Observers agreed they had rarely seen LaMotta box so cleverly and look so fit physically.

For eight rounds the two sluggers traded block-busters. Murphy held a six-point edge on the combined scoreboards when Jake finally solved the ex-sailor's left-handed style.

Is Surprise Winner

New York, June 12 (AP)—Macky Wirth, 19-year-old Dartmouth College freshman from Milwaukee, entered the quarter-final round of the Brooklyn tennis championships yesterday by upsetting Maj. Leo Hayes of West Point, N. Y., the tourney's fifth-seeded player, 4-6, 6-3, 11-9. Wirth, who played No. 1 for the Dartmouth Frosh, rallied from a love-40 deficit in the 16th game of the final set, erasing Hayes' three match points to hold service and eventually pull out the surprise victory. Hayes, a Spanish instructor at the U. S. Military Academy and the east's 10th-ranking player, missed an easy drop shot while standing at the net to enable Wirth to reach deuce in the crucial 16th game.

Sauer's Three Homers Plug Him As Leading Slugger in Majors

Duplicates '50 Trick Off Phils' Simmons

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

No one will dare ask Hank Sauer to sit out the 1952 All-Star game. The big fellow from Chicago stands out today as the leading slugger in all baseball.

Barney Shotton, National League All-Star manager in 1950, got himself in a jam when he suggested that big Hank give way to Dodger Duke Snider in the starting lineup. Shotton found himself without a centerfielder in his fan-picked outfield of Enos Slaughter, Ralph Kiner and Sauer. So he decided to bench Sauer.

The wires sizzled with fiery protests from indignant Cub fans. They applied so much heat that Commissioner Happy Chandler, heeding the mounting pressure, ruled "Sauer must start."

From the trend of the early '52 balloting, Sauer may wind up with the most votes of any player in either league. At least he will if he has many more days like yesterday.

First in Majors

Sauer hammered three of "Cousin" Curt Simmons' pitches into the left field bleacher area for a 3-2 Cub win over the Phillies. Back in 1950 he also hit three homers off Simmons in an Aug. 28 game at Wrigley Field. No other major league batter ever hit three homers off the same pitcher in two different games.

Sauer's homers were lead-off blows in the second, sixth and eighth innings. In the third inning, he popped out.

Despite the bombing, Turk Lown needed some bonehead Phil base-running and relief help from Dutch Leonard to beat Simmons.

With the bases loaded in the sixth, Richie Ashburn singled to center but Tommy Brown dashed from first to third without touching second base. Two runs were nullified when the Cub infield called for the ball and Eddie Miksis stepped on second to retire Brown for the third out.

Leonard replaced Lown with men on second and third and only one out in the ninth. He struck out Johnny Wyrostek and made Forrest Burgess ground out.

Dressen, Reese Ejected

Sauer's slugging was the big news of the day, although there was much fussing and fuming last night at St. Louis where both Manager Chuck Dressen and Captain Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn were tossed out of the game with the St. Louis Cardinals. Del Rice's single in the 10th gave the Cards a 3-2 win, slicing the Dodgers' National League lead to four games.

Jim Heard pitched the New York Giants past Cincinnati, 3-2, with a four-hitter and little Murry Dickson of Pittsburgh blanked Boston, 5-0.

The New York Yankees strengthened their American League lead with a 7-2 win over Detroit on Johnny Sain's pitching and home runs by Joe Collins and Yogi Berra.

Washington's Bob Porterfield shut out Cleveland's Bo Lemon, 1-0, to let the Boston Red Sox take over second place with a come-from-behind win over St. Louis, 11-9. The Red Sox blasted Satchel Paige for six in the ninth, including a game winning grand slam homer by catcher Sammy White.

The Philadelphia A's knocked off Chicago, 5-3, on a four-run rally in the sixth that included a two-run homer by Al Zark, filling in for injured Gus Zernial.

The Red Sox explosion was the most dramatic event in the American as it came against Paige, who has been showing fine relief form. He hadn't allowed a run for 27 innings.

Coasting into the ninth with a comfortable 9-5 lead for Marty Marion's new charges, ed Satch loaded the bases on two infield singles and a walk. Vern Stephens popped out but Paige walked Billy Goodman to force in a run. Ted Lepcio's single scored another run and White cleaned the bases—the first homer off Paige this season.

Collins hit two homers and Berra one off 21-year-old Bill Hoeft for the Yanks' ninth victory in their last 10 starts as they surged from fifth to first place in less than two weeks.

Portfield beat Lemon with a run in the eighth when Pete Runnels trickled a double past second baseman Bobby Avila and Ken Wood, recently acquired from the Red Sox, singled to center.

Loes Is Loser

The Cards' extra-inning win came when Peanuts Lowery opened the 10th with a double off loser Billy Loes. After Dick Sisler was passed intentionally, Tommy Glaviano forced Lowery at third on an attempted sacrifice. Rice then hit Loes' first pitch into short left to score Sisler.

Hearn turned in a fine effort for Giants at Cincinnati. During one stretch, the righthander retired 15 consecutive Reds. Successive doubles by Bob Elliott and Don Mueller scored the decisive run in the fifth after Bobby Thompson's eighth homer, with Whitey Lockman on base, tied the score.

Gus Bell hit a homer with two on and Ralph Kiner smashed No. 10 for the Pirates while Dickson set down the Braves with five singles.

HANK HAD A BIG DAY

Chicago Cubs Outfielder Hank Sauer uses a towel to dry his head in Wrigley Field dressing room after game with Philadelphia Phillies in which he slammed three home runs to single-handedly give the Cubs a 3-2 win. This was the second time in Big Hank's career that he jolted Phils Pitcher Curt Simmons for three homers in one game. The rampaging Sauer boosted his National League leadership in homers to 18 and in runs-batted-in to 58. Sauer smashed three homers off Simmons previously on Aug. 28, 1950. (AP Wirephoto)

Is Surprise Winner

New York, June 12 (AP)—Macky Wirth, 19-year-old Dartmouth College freshman from Milwaukee, entered the quarter-final round of the Brooklyn tennis championships yesterday by upsetting Maj. Leo Hayes of West Point, N. Y., the tourney's fifth-seeded player, 4-6, 6-3, 11-9. Wirth, who played No. 1 for the Dartmouth Frosh, rallied from a love-40 deficit in the 16th game of the final set, erasing Hayes' three match points to hold service and eventually pull out the surprise victory. Hayes, a Spanish instructor at the U. S. Military Academy and the east's 10th-ranking player, missed an easy drop shot while standing at the net to enable Wirth to reach deuce in the crucial 16th game.

Sauer's Three Homers Plug Him As Leading Slugger in Majors

Duplicates '50 Trick Off Phils' Simmons

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

No one will dare ask Hank Sauer to sit out the 1952 All-Star game. The big fellow from Chicago stands out today as the leading slugger in all baseball.

Barney Shotton, National League All-Star manager in 1950, got himself in a jam when he suggested that big Hank give way to Dodger Duke Snider in the starting lineup. Shotton found himself without a centerfielder in his fan-picked outfield of Enos Slaughter, Ralph Kiner and Sauer. So he decided to bench Sauer.

The wires sizzled with fiery protests from indignant Cub fans. They applied so much heat that Commissioner Happy Chandler, heeding the mounting pressure, ruled "Sauer must start."

From the trend of the early '52 balloting, Sauer may wind up with the most votes of any player in either league. At least he will if he has many more days like yesterday.

First in Majors

Sauer hammered three of "Cousin" Curt Simmons' pitches into the left field bleacher area for a 3-2 Cub win over the Phillies. Back in 1950 he also hit three homers off Simmons in an Aug. 28 game at Wrigley Field. No other major league batter ever hit three homers off the same pitcher in two different games.

Sauer's homers were lead-off blows in the second, sixth and eighth innings. In the third inning, he popped out.

Despite the bombing, Turk Lown needed some bonehead Phil base-running and relief help from Dutch Leonard to beat Simmons.

With the bases loaded in the sixth, Richie Ashburn singled to center but Tommy Brown dashed from first to third without touching second base. Two runs were nullified when the Cub infield called for the ball and Eddie Miksis stepped on second to retire Brown for the third out.

Leonard replaced Lown with men on second and third and only one out in the ninth. He struck out Johnny Wyrostek and made Forrest Burgess ground out.

Dressen, Reese Ejected

Sauer's slugging was the big news of the day, although there was much fussing and fuming last night at St. Louis where both Manager Chuck Dressen and Captain Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn were tossed out of the game with the St. Louis Cardinals. Del Rice's single in the 10th gave the Cards a 3-2 win, slicing the Dodgers' National League lead to four games.

Jim Heard pitched the New York Giants past Cincinnati, 3-2, with a four-hitter and little Murry Dickson of Pittsburgh blanked Boston, 5-0.

The New York Yankees strengthened their American League lead with a 7-2 win over Detroit on Johnny Sain's pitching and home runs by Joe Collins and Yogi Berra.

Washington's Bob Porterfield shut out Cleveland's Bob Lemon, 1-0, to let the Boston Red Sox take over second place with a come-from-behind win over St. Louis, 11-9. The Red Sox blasted Satchel Paige for six in the ninth, including a game winning grand slam homer by catcher Sammy White.

The Philadelphia A's knocked off Chicago, 5-3, on a four-run rally in the sixth that included a two-run homer by Al Zark, filling in for injured Gus Zernial.

The Red Sox explosion was the most dramatic event in the American as it came against Paige, who has been showing fine relief form. He hadn't allowed a run for 27 innings.

Coasting into the ninth with a comfortable 9-5 lead for Marty Marion's new charges, old Satch loaded the bases on two infield singles and a walk. Vern Stephens popped out but Paige waved Billy Goodman to force in a run. Ted Lepcio's single scored another run and White cleaned the bases—the first homer off Paige this season.

Collins hit two homers and Berra one off 21-year-old Bill Hoeft for the Yanks' ninth victory in their last 10 starts as they surged from fifth to first place in less than two weeks.

Loes Is Loser

The Cards' extra-inning win came when Peanuts Lowery opened the 10th with a double off loser Billy Loes. After Dick Sisler was passed intentionally, Tommy Glaviano forced Lowery at third on an attempted sacrifice. Rice then hit Loes' first pitch into short left to score Sisler.

Hearn turned in a fine effort for Giants at Cincinnati. During one stretch, the righthander retired 15 consecutive Reds. Successive doubles by Bob Elliott and Don Mueller scored the decisive run in the fifth after Bobby Thompson's eighth homer, with Whitey Lockman on base, tied the score.

Gus Bell hit a homer with two on and Ralph Kiner smashed No. 10 for the Pirates while Dickson set down the Braves with five singles.

HANK HAD A BIG DAY

Chicago Cubs Outfielder Hank Sauer uses a towel to dry his head in Wrigley Field dressing room after game with Philadelphia Phillies in which he slammed three home runs to single-handedly give the Cubs a 3-2 win. This was the second time in Big Hank's career that he jolted Phils Pitcher Curt Simmons for three homers in one game. The rampaging Sauer boosted his National League leadership in homers to 18 and in runs-batted-in to 58. Sauer smashed three homers off Simmons previously on Aug. 28, 1950. (AP Wirephoto)

Yanks Meet Dodgers In LL Game Tonight

The two unbeaten Little League clubs, the Yankees and Dodgers, meet in an important game tonight which may go a long way in determining the first half championship.

Danny Steltz, the strong-armed righthander of the Yanks who pitched and batted his club to a 4-3 opening win last Saturday, is scheduled to hurl tonight. Glen Newell is the logical pitching choice for the Dodgers.

Another feature of tonight's game at the LL Stadium, Manor avenue, will be the appearance of Hobart Armstrong, the Dodger fly-chaser, who has been belting the ball at an .888 clip in two games. Armstrong has cracked out eight hits in nine trips, including three homers.

Dinner Date Cops

Westbury, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—Dinner Date, a brown filly owned by A. L. Derby of Wichita, Kan., took over the lead in the stretch last night for a three lengths victory in the first division of the $7,125 Old Country Trot at Roosevelt Raceway. Nine three-year-old fillies, four of them eligible for the $90,000 Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., in August, competed, and the even money favorite, Kimberly Mine, broke stride after trailing for more than a half mile in the one-mile event.

Of every 100 hen eggs placed in incubators, it is estimated that about two dozen fail to hatch.

Hogan Is Threat

Dallas, June 12 (AP)—Two intruders, heat and Hogan, threatened to complicate matters today as the familiar figures of golf's tournament trail began their annual quest for the biggest prize of all, the United States Open championship. Ben Hogan, of course, was regarded as the most serious threat as the vanguard of the field of 162 players began to stream down the bottlenecked fairways of the Northwood course at 9 a. m. (E.S.T.). He won the last two Open championships. The sticky heat, which hasn't kept a few players from scorching the course in practice, may have a more serious effect if it continues through Saturday. The contenders will have to play 36 holes on that last day.

The two unbeaten Little League clubs, the Yankees and Dodgers, meet in an important game tonight which may go a long way in determining the first half championship.

Danny Steltz, the strong-armed righthander of the Yanks who pitched and batted his club to a 4-3 opening win last Saturday, is scheduled to hurl tonight. Glen Newell is the logical pitching choice for the Dodgers.

Another feature of tonight's game at the LL Stadium, Manor avenue, will be the appearance of Hobart Armstrong, the Dodger fly-chaser, who has been belting the ball at an .888 clip in two games. Armstrong has cracked out eight hits in nine trips, including three homers.

Dinner Date Cops

Westbury, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—Dinner Date, a brown filly owned by A. L. Derby of Wichita, Kan., took over the lead in the stretch last night for a three lengths victory in the first division of the $7,125 Old Country Trot at Roosevelt Raceway. Nine three-year-old fillies, four of them eligible for the $90,000 Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., in August, competed, and the even money favorite, Kimberly Mine, broke stride after trailing for more than a half mile in the one-mile event.

Of every 100 hen eggs placed in incubators, it is estimated that about two dozen fail to hatch.

Hogan Is Threat

Dallas, June 12 (AP)—Two intruders, heat and Hogan, threatened to complicate matters today as the familiar figures of golf's tournament trail began their annual quest for the biggest prize of all, the United States Open championship. Ben Hogan, of course, was regarded as the most serious threat as the vanguard of the field of 162 players began to stream down the bottlenecked fairways of the Northwood course at 9 a. m. (E.S.T.). He won the last two Open championships. The sticky heat, which hasn't kept a few players from scorching the course in practice, may have a more serious effect if it continues through Saturday. The contenders will have to play 36 holes on that last day.

The reindeer was domesticated in the Old World in prehistoric times.

Section Eight Cops State Track Meet; Two Records Are Broken

Section Nine Third With 25½ Points

Section Eight, with two of its competitors establishing new records, won the New York State Public High School intersectional track and field championships Saturday at West Point.

The winners posted 69½ points to nail down the bunting. Section One finished second with 52½ points.

Section Nine, the smallest of the entries, made a surprising finish with 25½ points for third place. It was the section's best showing in the history of the meet.

The rest of the field included Section Three with 20½ points, Section Two with 19½ points and Section Four with 7½ points.

Sets State Mark

One of Section Eighth's entries, Gene Dyson of Bay Shore High School, established a state record when he tossed the discus 164 feet, eight and three-quarters inches. The national record is held by Clyde Gardner of Newton, Ia., who uncorked a toss of 179 feet, two and three-quarter inches three years ago.

Another of Section Eighth's mainstays, Tim Hill of Gorton, turned in a new 220-yard dash record of 0:21.3 seconds.

Koenig in Tie

Only one Kingston High School member finished high in the official standings. He was Frank Koenig who tied Dick Shipley of Hempstead, Section Eight, in the high jump event. Both Koenig and Shipley registered jumps of five feet, 11 and three-eighth inches for the tie.

Vince Alexander of Westbury equaled the former mark of 09.9 seconds in capturing the 100-yard dash. A couple of other Section Eight stars fared well in the discus and along with Dyson of Bay Shore eclipsed the former record discus mark.

William Nixon of Oyster Bay tossed the discus 157 feet, eight inches while Dick Campbell of Pelham, wound up with a toss of 146 feet, one and one-half inches.

The previous high in this event was turned in by Mike Reilly of Gorton High School whose record was 144 feet, four inches, established in 1951.

Locals Place Fifth

Kingston High, a member of Section Nine, placed fifth in the 880-yard relay event. The Maroon relay squad included Webster Henderson, Art Miller, Orville Giles and Charlie Johnson.

Other Section Nine standouts results include the following:

100-yard dash: Harold Pringle, Nyack, fifth; 180-yard hurdles, Jerry Ellsworth, Suffern, third; .440—Roger Gilbert, Port Jervis, second; 880 — Frank Schuerholz, Middletown, third; 220-yard dash, David Lake, Spring Valley, third; shot put, Robert Eisma, Goshen, fifth and high jump, Harold Conover, Suffern, tied for fourth place.

Section Nine, the smallest entry in the meet, embraces Ulster, Orange, Sullivan and Rockland counties.

A complete breakdown on the entries follow:

Section One, Westchester county, include 58 schools, mostly of the larger variety; Section Two, Schenectady, 82 schools; Section Three, Utica, 115 schools; Sec-Four, Binghamton, 81 schools; Section Eight, Long Island, not including Brooklyn, 57 schools; and Section Nine, 49 schools.

Worthing, England—Tom Haliburton of Scotland set a British tournament record with a 61 in the first round of the Spalding Tournament.

Beckenham, England—Gardnar Mulloy, Hamilton Richardson and Eric Sturgess reached the semi-finals of the Kent championships.

Golf

Columbus, O.—Pat Lesser of Seattle U., the medalist, won her first round match in the Women's Intercollegiate Golf championships against Evelyn Braddock of San Diego State, 6 and 4.

Section Eight Cops State Track Meet; Two Records Are Broken

Section Nine Third With 25½ Points

Section Eight, with two of its competitors establishing new records, won the New York State Public High School intersectional track and field championships Saturday at West Point.

The winners posted 69½ points to nail down the bunting. Section One finished second with 52½ points.

Section Nine, the smallest of the entries, made a surprising finish with 25½ points for third place. It was the section's best showing in the history of the meet.

The rest of the field included Section Three with 20½ points, Section Two with 19½ points and Section Four with 7½ points.

Sets State Mark

One of Section Eighth's entries, Gene Dyson of Bay Shore High School, established a state record when he tossed the discus 164 feet, eight and three-quarters inches. The national record is held by Clyde Gardner of Newton, Ia., who uncorked a toss of 179 feet, two and three-quarter inches three years ago.

Another of Section Eighth's mainstays, Tim Hill of Gorton, turned in a new 220-yard dash record of 0:21.3 seconds.

Koenig in Tie

Only one Kingston High School member finished high in the official standings. He was Frank Koenig who tied Dick Shipley of Hempstead, Section Eight, in the high jump event. Both Koenig and Shipley registered jumps of five feet, 11 and three-eighth inches for the tie.

Vince Alexander of Westbury equaled the former mark of 09.9 seconds in capturing the 100-yard dash. A couple of other Section Eight stars fared well in the discus and along with Dyson of Bay Shore eclipsed the former record discus mark.

William Nixon of Oyster Bay tossed the discus 157 feet, eight inches while Dick Campbell of Pelham, wound up with a toss of 146 feet, one and one-half inches.

The previous high in this event was turned in by Mike Reilly of Gorton High School whose record was 144 feet, four inches, established in 1951.

Locals Place Fifth

Kingston High, a member of Section Nine, placed fifth in the 880-yard relay event. The Maroon relay squad included Webster Henderson, Art Miller, Orville Giles and Charlie Johnson.

Other Section Nine standouts results include the following:

100-yard dash: Harold Pringle, Nyack, fifth; 180-yard hurdles, Jerry Ellsworth, Suffern, third; 440—Roger Gilbert, Port Jervis, second; 880 — Frank Schuerholz, Middletown, third; 220-yard dash, David Lake, Spring Valley, third; shot put, Robert Eisma, Goshen, fifth and high jump, Harold Conover, Suffern, tied for fourth place.

Section Nine, the smallest entry in the meet, embraces Ulster, Orange, Sullivan and Rockland counties.

A complete breakdown on the entries follow:

Section One, Westchester county, include 58 schools, mostly of the larger variety; Section Two, Schenectady, 82 schools; Section Three, Utica, 115 schools; Sec-Four, Binghamton, 81 schools; Section Eight, Long Island, not including Brooklyn, 57 schools; and Section Nine, 49 schools.

Worthing, England—Tom Haliburton of Scotland set a British tournament record with a 61 in the first round of the Spalding Tournament.

Beckenham, England—Gardnar Mulloy, Hamilton Richardson and Eric Sturgess reached the semi-finals of the Kent championships.

Golf

Columbus, O.—Pat Lesser of Seattle U., the medalist, won her first round match in the Women's Intercollegiate Golf championships against Evelyn Braddock of San Diego State, 6 and 4.

New Officers Attend Home Bureau's Annual Meeting

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Home Bureau Meeting Tuesday

Woodstock, June 11—The final meeting of the season of the Woodstock Home Bureau was held in the garden of the Bearsville home of Mrs. Hermine Kutzschbach Tuesday afternoon.

Installation of the following new officers for next year, took place: Miss Anna Carolan, chairman; Mrs. Emily Harrington, vice chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Nichols, second vice chairman; Mrs. Merrill Reynolds, secretary; Miss Katharine Bertsch, treasurer, and Mrs. Augusta Grimes, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Daisy Montgomery, retiring chairman, presided, and welcomed 63 members and their guests to the garden party meeting, after refreshments were served. She presented an outline of the unit's extensive fall program. The following leaders will be in charge of the three projects planned by the unit for next fall: Mrs. Helen Jansen, chair caning; Mrs. Augusta Grimes and Mrs. Penning, basic dress making; and Miss Maude Shelton and Mrs. Emily Harrington, smocking.

Resumes of the past year's projects were given by various leaders. Mrs. Nora Holdridge and Miss Therese Kessel reported that at least 50 pairs of fabric gloves had been made by their group, and a similar number of aluminum trays had been made by the group under the leadership of Mrs. Hermine Kutzschbach and Mrs. Elizabeth Clough. Mrs. Felicia Froot reported that a large group had completed toothbrush rugs, and in the decorative stitches class many fine articles had been completed, according to Miss Kessel and Mrs. Blanch Hecht. Fabric bags are still in progress, with Mrs. Montgomery as leader, and a number of attractive sewing screens were constructed under the guidance of Mrs. Lilliam Compitello.

Following a report on the annual folk lore meeting, sponsored by the Home Bureau, with Miss Neva Shultis, chairman, it was suggested by Miss Carolan that interest and studies on local folk lcre be extended to the recording of the history of the Home Bureau in this area.

Mrs. Montgomery read a letter from the Woodstock Community Memorial Association requesting a donation for the War Memorial on the village green. As its contribution, the Woodstock unit presented the American flag to the Association. The flag was raised for the first time during Memorial Day ceremonies.

An invitation was also read requesting members to attend dedication ceremonies of the new IBM plant in Poughkeepsie, honoring Thomas J. Watson, president of the corporation. Ceremonies will be held June 14, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

After taking over the chair, Miss Carolan appointed the following chairmen for next year: Mrs. Felix Graf, publicity; Miss Shelton, hostess; and Mrs. Helen Jansen, cheer. Miss Carolan also invited members to attend the annual fall rally at the September meeting to be held at her home.

Speicher Exhibit At Smith Gallery

Woodstock, June 11—A one-man show of paintings and drawings by Eugene Speicher, will be held at the Mollie Higgins Smith Gallery, opening Friday, July 25, at 3 p. m. The exhibition will remain at the gallery through September 6.

Mrs. Smith has announced that the current exhibition at the gallery will close July 19, and that the gallery will be closed for a week in preparation for the Speicher show. The present exhibition features paintings and drawings by such noted artists as Louis Bouche, Richard Lahey, Andree Ruellan, Andrew Dasburg, Georgina Klitgaard, Robert Henri, Henry Mattson, John Taylor, Leon Kroll, Lucie Bayard, John Carroll, Yasuo Kuniyoshi, Henry Lee McFee, Marjorie Organ, Alexander Brook, Rockwell Kent, Eugene Speicher, George Bellows and Alfeo Faggi.

Recent visitors at the gallery were Mrs. John Shults and Mrs. Olga Strong, of the Saugerties Art Association.

Woodstock, June 11—The unique table linens of the Woodstock Block Print Studio, have been featured recently in three of the country's leading magazines. The designs shown, created by Mrs. Leisje Cramer, and block printed by Miss Mariouw Smit, include an illustration in the June issue of Harper's Bazaar of their tablecloth inspiration for an outdoor umbrella table. The circular cloth, which is a specialty of the studio, is described as follows: "A problem solved; a table cloth especially designed for umbrella-topped tables, of unbleached muslin, hand-blocked in yellow, green or red, diameter 50, or 65 inches." The figures in the design were inspired from old Dutch patterns.

In the May issue of Gourmet, The Mazazine of Good Living, a table setting in full color is shown, composed of white china on a pink cloth decorated with their popular herb motif.

Town and Country pictures the handsome bridal cloth, with old Dutch figures, each one especially inscribed with names and dates, suggested not only as a bridal gift, for lifetime use, but for anniversary gifts as well. On a white linen background, the figures are printed in antique blue and red, or yellow and grey.

In tribute to the Kingston tercentenary celebration, Mrs. Cramer and Miss Smit have designed a linen runner, using the bridal figure motifs, inscribed with Kingston, 1652-1952.

Visitors are invited to come in to the show room of the Block Print Shop.

"Woodstock," Mrs. Fanny Ganso, director of the gallery, says, "is an outstanding art colony, whose fame has spread through the artists who have worked and taught there. It is a valid center for professional art galleries."

New Officers Attend Home Bureau's Annual Meeting

Newly elected officers in attendance at the annual meeting of the Woodstock unit of the Home Bureau held in the home of Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach, Bearsville, on Tuesday afternoon, were left to right, Miss Katharine Bertsch, treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy Nichols, 2nd vice-chairman; Miss Anna Carolan, chairman; Mrs. Emily Harrington, vice-chairman; and Mrs. Augusta Grimes, secretary. ### Home Bureau Meeting Tuesday

Woodstock, June 11—The final meeting of the season of the Woodstock Home Bureau was held in the garden of the Bearsville home of Mrs. Hermine Kutzschbach Tuesday afternoon.

Installation of the following new officers for next year, took place: Miss Anna Carolan, chairman; Mrs. Emily Harrington, vice chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Nichols, second vice chairman; Mrs. Merrill Reynolds, secretary; Miss Katharine Bertsch, treasurer, and Mrs. Augusta Grimes, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Daisy Montgomery, retiring chairman, presided, and welcomed 63 members and their guests to the garden party meeting, after refreshments were served. She presented an outline of the unit's extensive fall program. The following leaders will be in charge of the three projects planned by the unit for next fall: Mrs. Helen Jansen, chair caning; Mrs. Augusta Grimes and Mrs. Penning, basic dress making; and Miss Maude Shelton and Mrs. Emily Harrington, smocking.

Resumes of the past year's projects were given by various leaders. Mrs. Nora Holdridge and Miss Therese Kessel reported that at least 50 pairs of fabric gloves had been made by their group, and a similar number of aluminum trays had been made by the group under the leadership of Mrs. Hermine Kutzschbach and Mrs. Elizabeth Clough. Mrs. Felicia Froot reported that a large group had completed toothbrush rugs, and in the decorative stitches class many fine articles had been completed, according to Miss Kessel and Mrs. Blanch Hecht. Fabric bags are still in progress, with Mrs. Montgomery as leader, and a number of attractive sewing screens were constructed under the guidance of Mrs. Lilliam Compitello.

Following a report on the annual folk lore meeting, sponsored by the Home Bureau, with Miss Neva Shultis, chairman, it was suggested by Miss Carolan that interest and studies on local folk lcre be extended to the recording of the history of the Home Bureau in this area.

Mrs. Montgomery read a letter from the Woodstock Community Memorial Association requesting a donation for the War Memorial on the village green. As its contribution, the Woodstock unit presented the American flag to the Association. The flag was raised for the first time during Memorial Day ceremonies.

An invitation was also read requesting members to attend dedication ceremonies of the new IBM plant in Poughkeepsie, honoring Thomas J. Watson, president of the corporation. Ceremonies will be held June 14, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

After taking over the chair, Miss Carolan appointed the following chairmen for next year: Mrs. Felix Graf, publicity; Miss Shelton, hostess; and Mrs. Helen Jansen, cheer. Miss Carolan also invited members to attend the annual fall rally at the September meeting to be held at her home.

It was announced that there will be a luncheon in honor of the retiring officers, at the Town House, Monday, June 16. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Felicia Froot, chairman.

The afternoon concluded with the presentation of a gift to Mrs. Montgomery, retiring chairman, by members, in appreciation for her work during the past year. A gift was also presented to Mrs. Lillian Compitello, of Saugerties, unit sponsor, in appreciation of her assistance. Mrs. Montgomery presented gifts to the following officers, leaders and members of the nominating committee, whom she warmly thanked for their service during the past year: Mrs. Kutzschbach, Miss Kessel, Mrs. Clough, Miss Shelton, Mrs. Josephine Neher, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Holdridge, Miss Katharine Bertsch, Mrs. Felicia Froot, Mrs. Hecht, Miss Shultis, Mrs. Mary Rapp Mrs. Jane Laws, and to the new officers.

Window Cleaner Saved

New York, June 12 (AP)—A window cleaner, one hook of his safety belt torn loose, dangled 11 floor above Madison avenue for five minutes today. His screams attracted a pedestrian far below who turned in a fire alarm. But when firemen arrived the cleaner, Peter McDuecky, 47, had been pulled back to safety by three building porters. Badly shaken, he went home.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Cases in County Court Here Today

Earl Roy Decker, 24, Poughkeepsie, who had previously entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry arising out of entrance to a Highland gas station, received a sentence of one year in the county jail this morning when he appeared before County Judge John M. Cashin for sentence. Execution of the sentence was suspended during good behavior and he was placed on probation for the maximum period. Since he resides in Dutchess county probation will be transferred to that county. James G. Connelly appeared for the defendant. Decker drew a suspended sentence because of his prior good record and his record of service in the armed forces. Bail was exonerated and the first count of the indictment, burglarly, third degree, was dismissed on motion of Connelly.

Two defendants who were involved in the same act with Decker, because of previous records, had been sentenced to 1½ to 3 years in Clinton prison but execution of the sentence was suspended.

Case Adjourned

In the case of James Robert Foster, 25, New York, Judge Cashin adjourned the matter until Monday at 2 o'clock in order to give defendant an opportunity of communicating with a sister in New York and secure fare back to New York. Foster is charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry for an alleged entrance to a local place where he secured a small sum of money. Foster, a button-sewer on garments, became involved with the law in New York and was sent to Woodbourne prison. While there he escaped. He was later apprehended and sent back to Woodbourne and later transferred to Napanoch Institution for Male Defective Delinquents. He was discharged from that institution and brought back to Ulster county to face the burglary charge which allegedly took place while he was an escapee. Foster told the court he could get his old job back in New York if allowed to go. At Napanoch he said he had been employed as a mason's helper while in the institution.

Court recessed until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Demonstration Fizzles

Rome, June 12 (AP)—A Communist-inspired "mass demonstration" against Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway fizzled out in the Italian capital today. Barely 400 "partisans of peace" turned up for two hours of anti-American harangues. Since the partisans of peace claimed more than a million Romans signed the Stockholm peace appeal, the turnout represented dismal failure.

Three Attend Sessions

The quarterly meeting of New York State Cerebral Palsy Organization was held in Utica on June 6, 7 and 8. The program centered on planning for young adults. Mrs. Charlotte Peck, director of Kingston Cerebral Palsy Center, Dr. Henry L. Bibby, president of Kingston Cerebral Palsy and Miss Mary Keresman, secretary attended.

Window Cleaner Saved

New York, June 12 (AP)—A window cleaner, one hook of his safety belt torn loose, dangled 11 floor above Madison avenue for five minutes today. His screams attracted a pedestrian far below who turned in a fire alarm. But when firemen arrived the cleaner, Peter McDuecky, 47, had been pulled back to safety by three building porters. Badly shaken, he went home.

Cases in County Court Here Today

Earl Roy Decker, 24, Poughkeepsie, who had previously entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry arising out of entrance to a Highland gas station, received a sentence of one year in the county jail this morning when he appeared before County Judge John M. Cashin for sentence. Execution of the sentence was suspended during good behavior and he was placed on probation for the maximum period. Since he resides in Dutchess county probation will be transferred to that county. James G. Connelly appeared for the defendant. Decker drew a suspended sentence because of his prior good record and his record of service in the armed forces. Bail was exonerated and the first count of the indictment, burglarly, third degree, was dismissed on motion of Connelly.

Two defendants who were involved in the same act with Decker, because of previous records, had been sentenced to 1½ to 3 years in Clinton prison but execution of the sentence was suspended.

Case Adjourned

In the case of James Robert Foster, 25, New York, Judge Cashin adjourned the matter until Monday at 2 o'clock in order to give defendant an opportunity of communicating with a sister in New York and secure fare back to New York. Foster is charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry for an alleged entrance to a local place where he secured a small sum of money. Foster, a button-sewer on garments, became involved with the law in New York and was sent to Woodbourne prison. While there he escaped. He was later apprehended and sent back to Woodbourne and later transferred to Napanoch Institution for Male Defective Delinquents. He was discharged from that institution and brought back to Ulster county to face the burglary charge which allegedly took place while he was an escapee. Foster told the court he could get his old job back in New York if allowed to go. At Napanoch he said he had been employed as a mason's helper while in the institution.

Court recessed until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Demonstration Fizzles

Rome, June 12 (AP)—A Communist-inspired "mass demonstration" against Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway fizzled out in the Italian capital today. Barely 400 "partisans of peace" turned up for two hours of anti-American harangues. Since the partisans of peace claimed more than a million Romans signed the Stockholm peace appeal, the turnout represented dismal failure.

Three Attend Sessions

The quarterly meeting of New York State Cerebral Palsy Organization was held in Utica on June 6, 7 and 8. The program centered on planning for young adults. Mrs. Charlotte Peck, director of Kingston Cerebral Palsy Center, Dr. Henry L. Bibby, president of Kingston Cerebral Palsy and Miss Mary Keresman, secretary attended.

Valley Convention Of Firemen Set June 19-20-21

Volunteer firemen from the Hudson valley area are making final plans to attend the 63rd annual convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association in Newburgh, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 19, 20 and 21.

Features will include addresses by Assemblyman Lee B. Mailler of Cornwall-on-Hudson, majority leader in Albany, and Augustus W. Bennet of Newburgh, former representative in Congress.

There will be memorial service for deceased members; an outing for delegates and members at Lockwood Grove; a mardi gras parade Friday evening, and the colorful firemen's parade on Saturday.

The annual association banquet and program of entertainment will be held Thursday evening, June 20, in Moose Hall, Liberty street, Newburgh.

Will Discuss Problems

Charles Draudt of Valley Cottage, president of the Rockland County Fire Police Association, will give an address on fire police and their problems. A public demonstration on fire extinguishing equipment will be given during the afternoon in Regional Park, Newburgh.

The opening session Thursday at 10 a. m. will be called to order by Edward Evans, chairman of the Newburgh convention committee. The address of welcome to the visiting firemen will be given by City Councilman Charles C. Stubley with the response by Francis W. Chrystal of Menands, president of the association.

President Chrystal will formally open the business part of the convention. A memorial service for deceased members will be held by the chaplain, the Rev. J. Benjamin Myers of Fishkill, and the remainder of the morning session will be devoted to association business.

Business Friday

Friday's session will open at 10 a. m. principally for business. The principal speaker will be former Congressman Bennett. Reports of officers and committee chairmen will be given, election of officers will take place, and a convention site for 1953 selected.

Friday afternoon, delegates and members will be entertained, also wives of the firemen, on a tour to the West Point Military Academy. In the evening a Mardi Gras parade will be held.

The Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association organized on July 1, 1890, at Coxsackie, now boasts of a membership of nearly 2 000 members, including about 500 fire companies in the counties of Albany, Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Putnam, Rensselaer, Rockland, Saratoga, Schenectady, Sullivan, Ulster, Washington, Warren and Westchester.

The convention is sponsored this year by the Veteran Firemen's Association of Newburgh and several fire companies in the outlying districts.

Taft Meets Jerseyites

New York, June 12 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft said today he would "certainly be glad to see" Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, of New Jersey. "I'll let bygones be bygones and forget it," the Ohio aspirant for the Republican nomination for president said after a half-hour conference with about 80 New Jersey Republicans. Taft was referring to the endorsement of his rival, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, by Gov. Driscoll just before the New Jersey primary last April. Taft forces charged that Driscoll used "political trickery" in endorsing Eisenhower. Driscoll denied the charge.
